Stephanie Wagner's Aged Cow Is Grand Champion Lebanon Holstein

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — An aged cow owned by Stephanie Wagner, 18-year-old daughter of Vincent and Julie Wagner, of Ju-Vindale Holsteins, Myerstown, not only took the top honors as the supreme champion cow in the youth dairy cattle show of the Lebanon Area Fair, but took grand champion honors during the county's open Holstein show, also held in conjunction with the fair.

Ju-Vindale Tradition Bobbie, almost a nine-year-old 4-H project Holstein, came through for Wagner during Friday's show, winning the type show in a field of more than 250 entries.

The show was judged by Curtis Day, who commented on the depth of the show and the quality of the animals. On Wagner's Holstein he commented about the length of body, udder floor above the hocks and the condition of the udder, feet and legs.

Dale Hostetter who farms with his sons in Annville, showed the reserve grand champion Holstein, 4-year-old Dale-Pride Mark Arabelle-ET, an Very Good 87 that had taken top of the 3-year-old class in last year's competition. Her dam, Dale-Pride Pete Agatha, was reserve grand champion in 1987, as a 4-year-old.

Hostetters repeated their fourth consecutive year in being awarded the show's premier exhibitor and breeder banners.

The Hostetter clan also showed the junior champion Holstein, which Bryan Hostetter showed, an intermediate yearling heifer, Dale-Pride Arthurs Precise. The heifer's sire, Dale-Pride Mark Arthur, is a brother to Arabelle.

The reserve junior champion Holstein was shown by Adam Sonnen and Lisa Francisco, of Richland. A summer yearling heifer, the reserve champion was Frogmore Sky Buck Becky, a Hanoverhill Skybuck daughter.

Barn Raising: A Social Event

Vote Due On National Dairy Promotion Board

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff and the Pennsylvania Farmer's Association/ Farm Bureau have been urging dairy producers to exercise their right to vote on whether or not to keep the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board.

The voting, or referedum, period is from August 5 through August 16. Ballots are available from local ASCS offices, or can be obtained by calling 1-800-745-5417 (USDA).

Voting is done individually, and through bloc voting.

Bloc voting is when a large cooperative farming organization casts a vote on behalf of its members.

However, all individual are free to cast their own vote. Individuals who object to the position of their organization may vote in their own manner — the votes running in opposition to the bloc vote are deducted from the whole.

Bloc voting was enacted to ease the process of gaining consensus — to allow each organization's members to agree on their own position and to offer it as a whole, instead of each individual being required to submit a separate document.

Although not specifically outlined as such, to knowledge, common knowledge is that individual voting is maintained to ensure that members are not misrepresented by organization leadership.

It also serves to allow the major-

Preparations Underway For Ag Progress Days

ROCK SPRINGS (Centre Co.)—Preparations are underway for Ag Progress Days August 17 to 19 at Penn State's Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. The theme for this year's annual event, "Conserving Our Resources Through Science," highlights the efforts of agricultural scientists and farmers to preserve water and soil quality while providing a safe and abundant supply of food.

This exposition attracts up to 50,000 people each year and has become one of the most respected agricultural events in the East. Lancaster Farming's issue next week will feature extensive preparatory coverage of the schedule of events and messages from the exhibitors who will be at the show. In addition, see Page C-8 this week for an early review of exhibitor locations and the schedule of educational and show events.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, August 4, 1993

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Prices were unchanged to higher in the Midwest and New England, unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was steady to firm. Demand was light to fairly good, best where featured and into food service channels. Supplies were generally at least adequate except the heavy large sizes were sometimes tight. Breaking stock was usually adequate, and offerings continued to be mostly light weight eggs. Live hen markets were at least steady, and supplies were generally adequate for the light to moderate demand.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.
Wednesday, August 4, 1993

CORN AND SOYBEAN PRICES LOWER, WEDNESDAY, WITH FAVORABLE GROWING CONDITIONS A MAJOR FACTOR. WHEAT 1 TO 2 CENTS LOWER EXCEPT MINNEAPOLIS SPRING WHEAT UP 40 CENTS. CORN UNCHANGED TO 2 CENTS LOWER. SORGHUM 2 TO 3 CENTS LOWER. SOY- BEANS 7 TO 10 CENTS LOWER. WHEAT PRICES FELL SLIGHTLY DUE PARTIALLY TO HARVEST PRESSURE. HARD RED WINTER WHEAT HARVEST LATE BUT TRYING TO FINISH UP AND SPRING WHEAT HARVEST ALREADY UNDERWAY. COMBINES RUN FROM NORTHERN KANSAS TO SOUTH DAKOTA AND ALONG THE SAME LINE INTO THE EASTERN CORNBELT. MINNEAPOLIS SPRING WHEAT TURNED SHARPLY HIGHER IN REACTION TO TUESDAY'S SUBSTANTIAL DECLINES. BARGE TRAFFIC REMAINS TIED UP BUT INCREASED RAILCARS MOVING OUT AS MORE LINES EMERGING FROM RECENT DEEP WATERS. TWO OR THREE IMPORTANT RAILYARDS IN KANSAS CITY ROUTING MORE TRAFFIC THIS WEEK. VERY GOOD EXPORT BUSINESS FOR WHEAT THIS WEEK LIMITED PRICE LOSSES. SLIGHT DECLINES IN CORN PRICES DUE TO CONTINUED LACK OF NEW EXPORT DEMAND. GOOD GROWING WEATHER IN CORN BELT THROUGH EARLY WEEK BUT SHIFT TO COOLER TEMP- ERATURES, UNDERPINNED PRICES. SOYBEAN PRICES FELL MODERATELY AFTER THE PAST COUPLE DAYS OF HIGHER TRENDS. FORECASTS FOR MUCH NEEDED RAIN IN SOUTHEASTERN U.S. AND PROFIT TAKING ON THE BOARD, WEIGHED ON BEAN PRICES. VERY LITTLE EXPORT INTEREST FOR SOYBEANS ALSO A NEGATIVE FACTOR.

EXPORT NEWS: JAPAN BOUGHT 228,064 TONNES OF WHEAT FOR OCTOBER SHIPMENT. LEBANON BOUGHT 100,000 METRIC TONS HARD RED WINTER WHEAT, UNDER EEP, FOR 93/94 MARKETING YEAR. The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

AUGUST 9-15, 1993

PERSEID METEOR SHOWER

This could be an especially good year for viewing the Perseid meteor shower, which peaks between August 11 and 13 during the waning Moon. The Perseids may be seen approaching from the Northeast, appearing to come from the constellation Perseus. In fact, the flying particles were spawned by Comet 1862 III, and are debris from the comet that has spread out along it's orbit. The best time to see the show may be after midnight on August 12 when 40 to 60 meteors per hour (or perhaps several hundred per hour) may be seen. But if you really want to catch a falling star, be sure to check during each night of the peak.

When the Moon is not full, the stars shine more brightly.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Sprinkle pre-sweetened lemonade drink mix over fresh fruit for sweetening, flavoring, and color preserving.

EARTHWISE

Here's an interesting twist on the beverage container problem: a reverse vending machine that takes your container and gives you a deposit refund or voucher. The machine flattens, crushes, and granulates the cans, glass, and plastic that are fed into it for efficient collection. These machines are in use in supermarkets in California and sound like a great idea for the whole country. For more information contact Environmental Products Corp., 11240 Waples Mill Rd., Fairfax, VA 22030-6032, 703-591-1001.

NUTTY FRUIT AND VEGETABLE SALAD

1 cup sliced red apples
1 cup peeled, sliced peaches
1 cup peeled, sliced pears
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced carrots
1/2 cup raisins
3/4 cup shredded cabbage
1/4 cup minced onion
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Combine all ingredients. Toss with vinaigrette or mayonnaise and serve.

Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Showers and cool, sunny and warm then cloudy and mild with light rain.

SOUTHEAST: Sunny and mild, few showers, seasonable, turning hot Florida and west.

MIDWEST: Showers, milder then seasonable, with scattered showers.

NORTHWEST: Seasonable and clear, cooler and showery coast, then sunny and warm, showers mountains.

SOUTHWEST: Scattered showers, clear and hot southern California, very hot desert then rainy and seasonable.

OPINION

Safer Pesticides Needed Now

Farmers have aggressively adopted newer, safer pesticides as they have become available. But they are frustrated by what some industry sources say has been a slow-down in the registration process.

By some estimates, it now takes the EPA two and one-half years or more to decide whether to register a new pesticide once manufacturers have submitted all needed documents and data. That's a year or more longer than in the past. To farmers, the slowdown is critical. Officials at the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA) say farmers are under pressure to improve environmental stewardship, but at the same time, the products that can help them do this are taking longer to get through to them.

The high level of frustration was highlighted in a special Gallup survey commissioned by NCGA last winter. It showed that nearly 80 percent of surveyed farmers think that the public sees them as poor environmental stewards. Yet, safer products aren't available to them.

Part of the frustration is that EPA officials say they are committed to speed up getting safer pesticides on the market. But the evidence shows that so far this has just been talk.

The burden is on EPA to follow through on the speed-up process so that safer pesticides are available for agricultural uses.

NOW IS THE TIME

By John Schwartz
Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Celebrate Poultry Month

August is "Poultry Month" in Lancaster County. The Lancaster County Commissioners made this declaration in recognition of the many contributions poultry makes to the county.

In 1992, the county was the largest egg producing county in the nation. The county's chickens produce 71 eggs every second. The $187 million farm receipts generated from poultry represents 42 percent of the total poultry products sold in Pennsylvania.

In addition to producing enough eggs to feed more than 8 million people, the county's farms produced 47 million broilers.

Some economic impact figures of the poultry industry are: every $1 of poultry wages generates an additional personal income of $6.81, and $602 million of economic activity is generated from the production of poultry and wages paid by Lancaster County poultry farmers.

Poultry is a very important segment of Lancaster County agriculture.

Join the poultry industry in celebrating August as "Poultry Month."

To Attend Ag Progress Days

Penn State's Ag Progress Days will be held August 17 to 19 at the Rockspring research farm. The farm is located on Route 45 about 9 miles southwest of State College.

At Ag Progress Days you will see how research and education help to improve our food supply, protect the environment and support Pennsylvania's number one industry, the $38 billion agricultural sector.

The event will include educational presentations, exhibits, workshops, guided tours of research facilities and test plots, commercial and non-commercial exhibits, machinery and equipment demonstrations.

Also, the latest on crops, dairy and livestock production, advice on lawns and gardens, soil and water conservation, antique farm and home implements, horse exhibits and clinics, youth displays and careers in agriculture is scheduled every day.

This year's show will also feature water quality, nutrient management and composting demonstrations. There is something for the entire family.

Admission and parking is free. So, plan now to attend Ag Progress Days. For more information contact your Penn State Cooperative Extension office or read related articles in this paper.

To Determine When To Rotate Alfalfa

It is always difficult to decide just when to rotate an established alfalfa field into another crop.

To help in making this decision, alfalfa growers may assess the health of a field between the last two harvests for the season by counting the number of stems per square foot.

Counting the number of stems rather than the number of plants gives a good indication of the relative health of the plant — healthy plants produce more stems than weaker plants.

Alfalfa fields with 55 or more stems per square foot produce maximum yields. When the number of stems per square foot declines to 40, the yield potential is reduced by 25 percent.

Economic data suggest when yields drop by more than 25 percent, it is time to rotate the alfalfa field to another crop. If fields are checked between the last two harvests of the year, marginal fields may be identified for rotation and appropriate plans may be made.

Editor:

Effective advertising is the bridge between the producer and the consumer. Some products are sold in large amounts whether they are good for us or not because of the promotions. I do not see any advertisements in any newspapers promoting agricultural products such as milk, fruit or vegetables by the Dairy Producers Assoc. or the Apple Growers Assoc. etc. Fresh untainted products free of additives would be better than snack foods or soft drinks which are sold by the millions of cans.

Why not place advertisements for milk, fresh fruits and vegetables in the sports sections of newspapers as an alternative to soft drinks and these pseudo-fruit drink concoctions.

On the way home from work, I often stop and get a bag of snack food. No more. There is too much salt and grease. I will get a bag of apples instead. I picked up about twenty empty soda cans and bottles and thought; is it good for us what is in these cans? Also consider the hassle of recycling them.

Fresh agricultural products would be better for all. They should be advertised in the newspapers where the consumers see them.

RAZING THE WALLS
August 8, 1993

Background Scripture:
Ephesians 2:11 - 3:6

Devotional Reading:
Hebrews 13:1-7

It was just a year ago that I saw something that I was quite sure would never be possible in my lifetime. I stood at the broad Potsdammer Platz in what used to be West Berlin and then walked across the ground that I remembered as being barred by the infamous Berlin Wall. I went to the Brandenberg Gate and, where once the way was barred by barbed wire and malevolent sentries, I joined the happy throngs that traipsed back and forth through its portals. It was an immensely pleasing experience.

But as I strolled freely through the former West and East Belins and later motored through the East Germany that once had lain behind the Iron Curtain, I realized that although the physical walls that divided Germany had been razed, there were still barriers between these two peoples. One woman said that, whereas in recent years the peoples of East and West Germany had maintained that Wir sind ein Volk!" — "We are one people!" - -" ...we are now realizing that in 50 years of separation and hostility, we had actually become two different peoples." The real barriers were not of concrete and barbed wire, but of ideas and emotions. Today, now that the physical walls have been pulled down, all Germany is working at pulling down those barriers which are even more insidious and pervasive — the barriers in peoples' hearts and minds.

WHO LOVES WALLS?

Actually, that's something we all should have known. I have sometimes observed that, although you can make the people of church sit together in the same pews, there may be barriers within that are not so easily breached. Robert Frost, observing nature's ceaseless attempts to destroy human walls, said that "There's something that doesn't love a wall." The forces of nature keep eating away at our walls, but human hostility keep repairing and maintaining those barriers. Something in human nature does "love a wall." Something in us keeps pulling apart that which God created to be together.

Why is it that so often in human history the end result of religion has been to build walls between people? The other day Valere and I were discussing the differences between various Christian denominations and she asked me, "Has there ever been a denomination that hasn't had a split in it? "I thought long and hard and, although I'm willing to concede that I may have overlooked one, I couldn't recall any group that had been spared that experiences.

HOSTILITY'S SOURCE

But, if that is so, it is not because God intends for us to be divided. That dividedness and divisiveness is something we human beings accomplish completely upon our own. If Muslims, Orthodox and Roman Catholics are fighting a "holy war" in Yugoslavia, it is a war that is neither intended nor sanctioned by the God they profess. When Protestants and Roman Catholics kill each other in Northern Ireland, it is not on spiritual grounds. Nor is it their God, who incites Hindus and Muslims to hate and attack each other in India. For the writer of Ephesians assures us that God's purpose is to reconcile both us to each other and to him.

A gospel that divides people and sets up impassable barriers cannot be the Good News of Jesus Christ. As Ephesians puts it, "For he is our peace, who has made us both one, and had broken down the dividing wall of hostility... that He might create in himself one new man in place of the two, so making peace, he might reconcile us both to God in one body through the cross, thereby bringing the hostility to an end" (2:14-16).

If your religion raises walls instead razing them, it is not the Christianity Christ died to give us.

MEAT MATTERS MOST

HOME BRED lambs like these have been winning for me and my buyers in the Mid-Atlantic area. They LOOK GOOD. They HANDLE GOOD. They CUT GOOD.

ADC GM Paul Hand Set To Retire

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Dr. Paul E. Hand is to retire from his post as general manager and secretary of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative on July 31 but will remain active as an Atlantic representative in industry affairs.

Hand, 62, has served as general manager and secretary of Atlantic for the past 11 years. Assuming his daily duties will be Robert M. Dever, 49, who currently serves as assistant general manager and assistant secretary.

Hand joined Atlantic's staff in 1957 as an economist. In this position, he testified at numerous state and federal milk order hearings on behalf of the cooperative's dairy farmers. He also became involved in developing policies and programs for the cooperative.

By 1960, Hand was elected assistant secretary by the board of directors. In 1971, the board further showed its support of Hand's abilities by naming him assistant general manager. He was appointed general manager and secretary in 1982, following the retirement of Dr. James E. Honan.

Throughout his career, Hand has been recognized as an expert on milk marketing and pricing issues. He served on a number of industry boards, including the National Milk Producers Federation (NMPF), the American Dairy Products Institute (ADPI) and Dairy Council Inc. He will continue to serve as an Atlantic representative on both the NMPF and ADPI boards.

Hand also has been praised for his leadership of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, which is one of the nation's top 10 milk marketing cooperatives.

"Atlantic made much progress during Paul Hand's tenure," said Robert B. McSparran, a Lancaster County dairy farmer and president of the cooperative. "He guided the successful merger that formed Atlantic in 1987 and is credited with the strong financial position the cooperative enjoys today."

While expressing appreciation for Hand's "valuable contributions" to Atlantic's growth, McSparran said that he and the board of directors look forward to continued progress under new general manager and secretary Robert M. Dever.

"Bob Dever was the obvious choice of the board," McSparran said. "He has been with Atlantic for more than two decades and has worked closely with Paul Hand for the past 10 years."

Dever joined Atlantic's staff in 1970 as payroll department supervisor. He was elected treasurer in 1974 and was named assistant general manager and assistant secretary in 1983. He most recently was responsible for negotiating raw milk sales and in overseeing the accounting, transportation and data processing functions.

Dever graduated from Drexel University in 1965 with a degree in accounting. He received his master's in business administration in 1972 from Temple University. He previously was employed by the USDA Market Administrator as an auditor.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative represents more than 3,550 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Cloister, Manheim FFA Visit Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Andy Bollinger, Ginny Nolt, Matt Wenger, and Kevin Martin, of the Cloister FFA Chapter, Ephrata, and Marci Haarnish of Manheim FFA Chapter, Manheim, attended the 1993 Washington Conference Program in the nation's capital.

The week-long program helps FFA members improve leadership skills, develop an understanding of national heritage and prepare for more effective leadership roles in their chapters and communities. Sessions on human relations, goal setting, and interpersonal communications were combined with discussions on personal outlook, motivation, and values to help members become effective leaders in the science, business and technology of agriculture.

Visits to Mount vernon, the Smithsonian Institution, Arlington National Cemetery, the Jefferson Memorial and other historic sights in Washington were included in the conference. They also visited Congressman Robert Walker in his Washington office. The chapter FFA advisor is Mr. Charles Kessler.

Tioga County Champion Milk To Be Sold

WELLSBORO (Tioga Co.) — The third annual Tioga County Milk Auction will happen at the Tioga County Fair during the Junior Livestock Auction on Saturday, August 14 at 3 P.M. The milk from each grand champion milking age cow, Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Jersey, Guernsey and Holstein will be sold in beautifully painted jars. The Milk Auction was developed to bring new and innovative educational programs to the 4-H and FFA dairy members. In February, 50 4-H and FFA members attended the Second Tioga County Youth Dairy Day. Hands-on experience and displays was the key to the day's success. The hands-on stations included everything from emergency first

Saccharin Takes Sweet Win At Erie

WATERFORD (Erie Co.) — A-Jay Farms, owned and operated by Marion Alsdorf and sons, of Spartansburg, recently took both the premier exhibitor and breeder banners at the 35th annual Erie County Holstein Show, held at the Waterford Fairgrounds.

Judge for the almost 100-animal show was Credin Comman, of Carlisle.

The grand champion Holstein of the show was also the senior champion, a 5-year-old cow, Maplesrow Astro Saccharin, a Paclamar Astronaut daughter out of Maplesrow Elevation Sweet, owned by Robert Freyermuth.

The reserve champion was an aged cow shown by Christylynn Curtis. The aged cow was Lojun Triple Threat Honey, sired by Hanover-Hill Triple Threat-Red.

The junior champion was a summer yearling owned by Crystal Miller, Hol-Ary C Merit Tess, sired by Tesk-Holm Valiant Rockie.

The reserve junior champion Holstein was a spring calf shown by Dick Curtis, Curtis-Haven Victor Laurel, a Hanover-Hill Victor daughter, that was also named best junior animal bred and owned.

Are your wheat profits getting lost at the mill?

You've just harvested your wheat crop and the yields look pretty good. Looks like you'll even make enough to pay your taxes. Then you haul the grain to the mill. It's weighed. And you find out your test weights are under 58 lb/bu.

So instead of getting full profit, you lose 8¢ for every bushel you produce. Even more if your test weights are substantially under 58 lb/bu. So much for paying off the taxes.

Maximize your profits with unmatched test weights.

With Hoffman 89, you'll get every penny from your wheat crop. In three-year trials conducted by Penn State and the University of Maryland, Hoffman 89 weighed in with the top test weight across all locations.

Best of all, it produced test weights of 58 lb/bu or more every single time, topping the mean test weight by at least 4%.

Get superior test weights without sacrificing yield.

But superior test weights are only half the story with Hoffman 89. You'll also get top-end yields that will have you smiling all the way to the bank.

Its 98 bu/A average, for example, produced a 5% advantage over the mean yield of 92.9 bu/A in Lancaster County trials. At $3.00 per bushel, you'd make $15.30 more per acre using Hoffman 89.

Winter hardiness boosts plant population.

Hoffman 89 features excellent winter hardiness to improve percent stand come spring. It also tillers better than many varieties to increase overall plant population. Superior standability and Powdery Mildew tolerance ensure maximum yield potential for added profitability.

Stop losing your profits at the mill.

Tired of losing your profits at the mill? Then call your local Hoffman sales representative. Or call Hoffman Seeds at 1-800-776-7929. We'll show you how to get the most from your wheat crop using Hoffman 89.

Chester County Holds 4-H Dairy Roundup

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Roundup was held recently at the Kimberton Fairgrounds with four 4-H dairy clubs participating and 87 animals being shown, with the Jersey breed being most represented with 42 animals shown.

From the left, Amy Hewitt is the reserve champion 4-H senior fitter and showman, while Kelly Young is the champion.

Thirty-four members showed their animals, inlcuding four, first-year 4-Hers, resulting in 53 animals qualifying for the Southeast 4-H District Show, set to be held at Kutztown, August 27.

Robert Barley, Conestoga, who is a Holstein breeder and former member of the Penn State Dairy Judging team, judged both the Ayrshire and Holstein breeds.

Bill Lesher, Bernville area dairyman and 4-H leader, judged the Guernsey and Jersey breeds.

Judging for showmanship and fitting was Kathy Walton, of Carlisle, and Deb Dietrich, Berks County 4-H agent.

4-H dairy cattle exhibitor Kevin Nolan of Cochranville, showed two grand champions — the Holstein and the Ayrshire breed champions — not a common feat.

In the Ayrshire show, Kevin Nolan, showed the senior and grand champion cow, a senior 3-year-old, Dreamnol Johnny's Snow. It was the second year in a row that Nolan won with Snow.

Kelly Young showed both the reserve senior and reserve grand champion Ayrshire, a junior 3-year-old, Pure-Ayr A.J. Babykakes, also a second year repreat performance.

In the Holstein show, Kevin Nolan showed his senior 2-year-old Dreamnol Leadman Paula to take the senior and grand champion awards.

In the Guernsey breed, Julie Sollenberger, of Spring City, took all the championship honors. Her senior 2-year-old Warwickmanor Fayette Audrey was senior and grand champion. Sollenberger's French Creek Fayette Daisy came in as reserve senior and grand, but was last year's grand champion.

Solleberger's other champions were French Creek Victory Valentine, a spring calf, for junior champion, and French Creek Frank April, a winter calf, for reserve junior champ.

The showing and fitting contest is divided into three age groups, first year, junior and senior divisions.

Champion first year showmanship honors went to Crystal Kolb, of Sping City. Stephanie Donough, of Chester Springs, was reserve champion.

In first year fitting, the champion was Erin Brobst, Spring City, and reserve champion was Stephanie Donough as reserve fitter.

In the junior-age division, the champion showman and fitter was Ben Hendricks, of Pheonixville. Tarik Gaffney, of Downingtown took the reserve fitter and showmanship ribbons.

In the senior-age division, the champion was Kelly Young, of West Grove, and Amy Hewitt, of Spring City, was reserve champion.

Prior to the official show there was pre-4-H showing competition for those under 8 years old. After the show, there was a showmanship competition between 4-H alumni, parents and leaders.

Erin Brobst is named first year fitting winner.

Groce Named Chairman

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Larry L. Groce of Butler Manufacturing Company has been named chairman of the U.S. Feed Grains Council (USFGC).

Groce is vice president-international for Butler, a major manufacturer of grain storage and handling equipment. He directs all international marketing and sales activities for Butler's grain systems division.

Groce was named chairman during the Council's 33rd Annual Board of Directors Meeting, held in San Diego, Calif., July 18-21. The meeting's theme was "Partners in Change," reflecting the group's efforts to continue the successful promotion of U.S. feed grains in the export market through cooperation between agribusiness and producer groups. As chairman, Groce will provide leadership as well as speak and travel on behalf of the Council.

Other Council Officers elected were vice chairman — Eldon Gould, Illinois Corn Marketing Board; treasurer — Ron Saylor, Nebraska Grain Sorghum Development, Utilization and Marketing Board; secretary — Glen Buckley, CF Industries, Inc.; and president and CEO — Kenneth Hobbie, USFGC.

Tapered hopper is interlocked then riveted together for strong construction made from 18 ga. steel. No danger of corning apart as spot welded construction. No thin spots as spun tapered hopper. The design must be good since our competition copied it. We don't spin our hopper. When you spin metal you get weak points. This is a critical area since the hogs are rubbing against it. Also, on our feeder if one spot does wear through it can be replaced. If a spun hopper wears out you have to replace the entire hopper

- One-piece seamless spun cover hinges back for easy filling.
- Front and rear catches hold cover secure.
- 6-piece tapered hopper swedged, then overlapped and riveted together for extra strength. No spotweld to break loose.
- 2"x6" tapered oak skids with heavy 11 gauge skid pulls for easy moving.
- Big 1¼ " rake edge stops feed waste.
- Large feed opening so there's plenty of headroom for largest of hogs to eat.
- Feed control band double hemmed for strength and made from 16 gauge galvanized steel.
- Agitator rods securely locked to adjusting cone and double nutted on feed control band, providing positive feed flow of any kind of feed.
- Door dividers made from heavy 16 gauge Galvalume steel.
- Heavy 11 gauge sectional trough ⅛ " thick, riveted together from 12 sections.
- Extra heavy wide crossbar strengthens feeder and keeps it round, doesn't let feed shut off.
- Top ring has pipe top finish.
- Four swedges in each hopper ring for added strength.

Corn Borer Protected Plants Receive Extended Test Permit

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.)—Corn plants that eat European corn borer. That's a switch, and not exactly what happens. But the new bio-tech corn plant does kill the borer when the borer eats the leaves of the Bacillus Thuringiensis (Bt) protected plant.

At a news conference last week, at the end of a Hoffman's Seeds regional dealer meeting, Ciba Seeds announced that the company had received the Experimental Use Permit (EUP) from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to extend testing of the new genetically engineered corn plant. While permits have been given for cotton and potatoes, this is the first (EPU) given for corn, according to company officials. The permit allows field testing beyond the 10 acre limits imposed on the company for initial testing. This means the borer protected corn plants can be field tested in various hybrids and locations across the country to check yields and feed values.

The gene manipulation process includes extensive research and engineering. Bt, a common bacterium in the soil, is currently used in sprays for agriculture and gardens. An environmentally acceptable ingredient, the Bt gene was introduced into the corn plant with the resulting protection. Test plots to date have shown the Bt protected plants can stand side by side with non-protected plants and a clear difference can be seen. Actually, the damage to the protected plants was so minimal that the scale to measure damage had to be revised down to record a bite here and a bite there. The borer eats one bite of the plant and dies.

Dan Lehmann, vice president administration,

These side by side fields were infested with European Corn Borer in test plots, but the bio-tech corn plants on the right are genetically protected so that if the borer takes a bite of these plants, the borer dies.

Work Is Fun When Your Neighbor Is There To Help

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

STRASBURG PIKE (Lancaster Co.)—When is work play? At least, when is work fun?

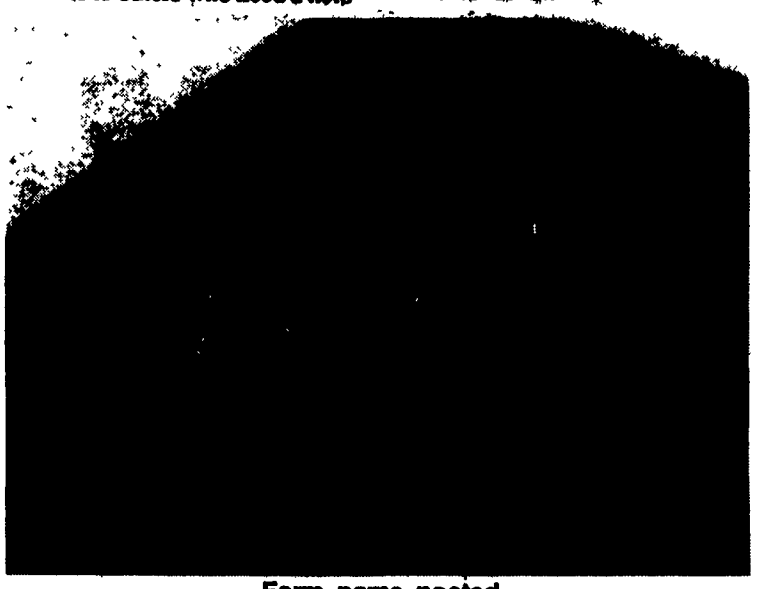
The answer: when your neighbors, family, and friends get together for a barn raising. And the work was fun, Thursday, when 60 farmers "of all denominations," got together at the Log House Farm of Ken and Bev, and Mike and Corinne Denlinger.

The occasion was the expansion of the dairy farm to add room for 40 cows to the the existing bank barn. The new building will double the herd size for the Denlinger partnership.

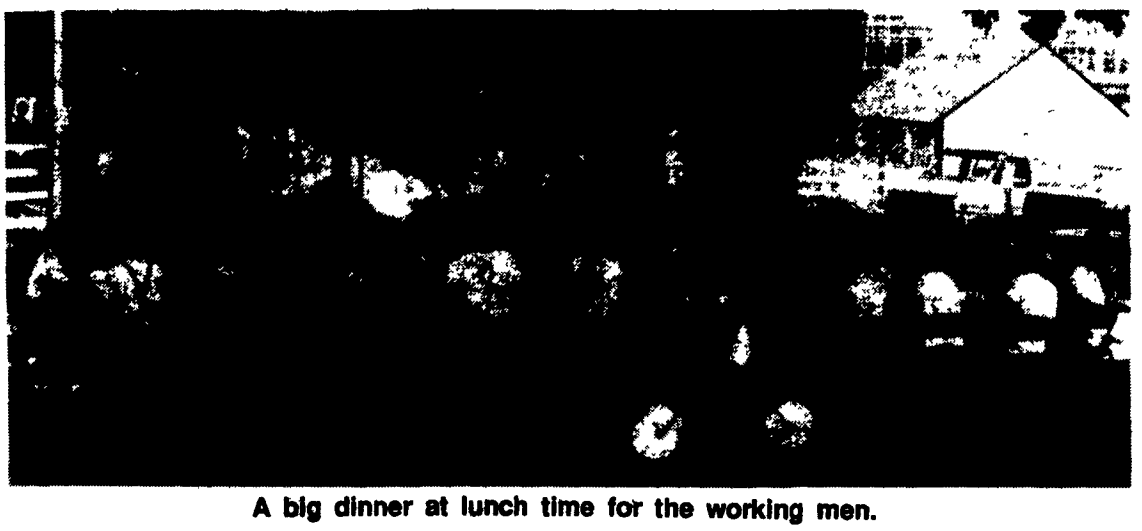
As quarter-ton beams were hoisted into the bottom of the new barn, the neighborly spirit was evident. Ten or 12 men working together shared the load as these beams were jockeyed into place. Later, trusses that had been prefabricated by hand in the old barn floor were hoisted into place on the upper story as farmers turned carpenters swarmed over the uplifted rafter supports to hammer home the nails that keep the frame in place.

This old fashioned way of socializing has many rewards. The Denlingers appreciated the help and the lower building cost. The workers received a large dinner at lunch time. And everyone who helped will be able to say he or she helped build "that new barn" when they drive past the farm lane. The day of labor didn't cost the individual very much, but when you put everybody's labor side by side, thousands of dollars are saved.

A lesson could be learned by our debt-ridden society from these neighborly farmers who gathered this week for some fun along Strasburg Pike. And sooner or later, those who are helped in this way find the opportunity to pass on their benefits to others who need a helping hand. Neighborliness breeds neighborliness, and it's a nice circle to be in.



Farm name posted.



A big dinner at lunch time for the working men.

Take your pick.

Ciba Seeds, made the presentation. "We think the power and potential of European corn borer protected corn plants is exciting," Lehmann said. "We believe it will reduce the risk of this insect for American agricultuyre, and we believe it's just the begining of what can be done with biotechnology."

Lehmann said corn borer damage across the nation on the average takes seven to 15 percent of the yield. With borer protected plants, 2.5 million acres of corn could be available for other uses; 100,000 tons of nitrogen fertilizer would not be needed; 22.5 million gallons of fossil fuel would not be needed; $50 million in pesticides would not be needed. "That's the power the technology has," Lehmann said.

European corn borer protected plants could increase yield equivalent to 66 percent of corn production in France, total production in Canada, twice the needs of France, 20 percent of the needs in Brazil, and 15 percent of the needs in the U.S.

While the registration process is formidable, it is not as stringent for biological products as with chemical products.

On the present time schedule, Ciba officials expect European corn borer protected hybrid seeds to be on the commercial market by 1999 or at the turn of the century.

Dear Friends of the Clinic for Special Children,

We are again asking for your support and dona-tions of saleable items to sell at the 3rd Annual Benefit Auction on Sept. 18, 1993, at the Leola Produce Auction site on Brethren Church Rd., Leola, PA.

All proceeds will go to the Clinic for Special Children, a non-profit organization, with Dr. Holmes Morton as the attending physician. Dr. Morton has taken a special interest in several hereditary diseases. By testing all newborn babies of high-risk percent-age, he has been able to prevent irre-versible brain damage of many of these young children. The same tests that are done at the clinic for 35^{00} would cost 350^{00} to 400^{00} at major medical centers, making these tests too expensive for many parents. The costs of owning and operating this laboratory equipment are huge, but with the funds from this annual auction the clinic has been able to offer this service to their clients at a price that is affordable by the average parent.

You may contact any of the following for more information or, if you wish, deliver your donation to any of them. Thank you for your support.*

Dairy Shrine Announces 1993 Student Recognition

SHAWANO, Wis. — Scott Ruby, San Luis Obispo, Calif., has been selected as the first place winner in the 1993 Dairy Shrine Student Recognition Contest.

Ruby, a recent graduate of the California Polytechnic State University, is to receive a cash award of $1,000 at the Dairy Shrine awards banquet in Madison, Wis. Sept. 29, in conjunction with World Dairy Expo.

Second through sixth place winners are also to be honored at the banquet. They are: second-Patricia Hurtgen, Oakdale, Calif.; third-Matthew Wanner, Narvon, Pa.; fourth-Beth Armbruster, Eagle, Wis.; fifth-Jill Marti, Sleepy Eye, Minn.; and sixth-Todd Riggs, Evansville, Ind. They will receive cash awards of $500, $400, $300, $200 and $100, respectively.

The student recognition award program is held annually to recognize graduating seniors who have career plans related to dairy-production agriculture. Winners are selected by an anonymous panel of judges based on leadership skills, academic ability and interest in dairy cattle.

First place winner Scott Ruby was a member of the Cal Poly dairy cattle judging team, treasurer of the dairy club, and was on the dean's and president's lists. He was also selected as a National Holstein Distinguished Junior Member and the Oregon State FFA president. He is currently employed at World-Wide Sires, Hanford, Calif., as a marketing assistant.

Second place winner Patricia Hurtgen is also a recent graduate of Cal Poly. While there she was an active member of numerous organizations. She served as Dairy Club president, was a member of Alpha Zeta, and was awarded the American Dairy Science Association Outstanding Scholastic & Leadership Achievement Award. She was also on the National Holstein Association Junior Advisory Committee, was named a National Distinguished Junior Holstein Member and served as president of the California Junior Holstein Association. Hurtgen plans to pursue a master's degree in dairy cattle genetics and reproduction.

Third place winner Matthew Wanner of Narvon graduated from Penn State with a degree in dairy and animal science and a minor in international agriculture. At Penn State, he was a member of the dairy cattle judging team, College of Ag Sciences Student Council and the Coaly Agricultural Activities Honorary Society. He was also named a National Distinguished Junior Holstein Member, was president of the Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association and a member of the National Champion 4-H Dairy Quiz Bowl team. His future plans include pursuing a master's degree in dairy cattle breeding and, eventually, returning to his home farm.

Fourth place winner Beth Armbruster recently graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Madison with a degree in agricultural economics and agricultural journalism. While in college, she was a member of the dairy cattle judging team, vice president of the Badger Dairy Club and Midwest Regional vice president of the American Dairy Science Association. Her immediate plans are to help relocate the family dairy farm and then seek a career in the dairy industry.

Matthew Wanner

Fifth place winner Jill Marti is to graduate from the University of Minnesota-St. Paul in December. She is active in college activities as a member of the dairy catle judging team, president of the Gopher Dairy Club and representative to the College of Agriculture Student Board. This past year she spent three months on an internship in Australia. Marti has also served five years on the Minnesota Junior Holstein Board of Directors, including serving as its president. She is also on the National Junior Holstein Advisory Committee. Her future plans include a career in the dairy industry.

Sixth place winner Todd Riggs graduated last December from Ohio State University. During College, he was a member of the dairy cattle judging team, served as president of the Buckeye Dairy Club and was national president of the American Dairy Science Association-Student Affiliate Division. Riggs is currently employed as a district sales manager for NOBA Inc., in southern Indiana and Illinois.

Boyer Family Repeats Champion Win

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Call it a summer re-run for the Tom Boyer family of Sunnybend Farm.

For the second consecutive year, the York Holstein breeders hauled one cow to the county's annual show - and snagged Grand Champion honors Peace & Plenty S-W-D Justina ET, an S-W-D Valiant daughter, got the champion nod after winning her 6-and-over age class. Judge Genie Lorenzo Roberts, New Jersey, praised the size and scale, snugness of foreudder and levelness of topline of the winner.

Scored EX-91, Justina completed her fourth lactation with over 30,000 pounds milk and is currently projected to repeat that production her fifth time through the milking string. She is owned by June Boyer and her father, John Haar, New Oxford, and was bred by Shane Swartzbeck, Union Bridge, Maryland.

The champion title was at least the second for Justina, having won the York Fair Supreme Dairy award as a younger cow. As a junior-two-year-old, she was named All-Pennsylvania.

Reserve champion honors went to the Knight family's Woodbine Farms, Airville, with a beautifully-uddered and well-balanced four-year-old.

Woodbine Erwing Sonia was also named Best Bred and Owned in her first trip through a showring. She scored VG-87 as a two-year-old and finished her first lactation with over 23,000 pounds milk and 850 pounds fat.

Named junior champion was Coredale Vanguard Ivy, a winter yearling exhibited by the Rodman Thompson family's Coredale Farms. The tall, stylish heifer was selected Best Bred and Owned for the East Berlin Holstein breeders.

Taking the reserve junior champion rosettes was Dar-Dale Mantis Tristie, a 4-H project animal exhibited by Dixie Lynn Doll, Glen Rock. The fall yearling was bred by Dixie's brother, Dana. She was named junior champion the previous day at the York 4-H dairy roundup.

The Doll family won a round of applause at the show's wrapup, when they were announced winners of both the Premier Breeder and Exhibitor banners. Parents Dale and Darla Doll, and their children Dana, Downa, Dixie and Daphne have been showing under the Dar-Dale banner for the entire 27 years the couple has been married. Both Dale and Darla Myers Doll grew up in the York County 4-H dairy program and have been exhibiting cattle since they were children.

In addition to their reserve junior champion, the Dolls took blue ribbons in both the junior and senior two-year-old classes, dry aged cow class, best three senior and best three junior females and the dam-daughter Dar-Dale also won numerous second and third-place spots.

Acknowledged by judge Genie Roberts as the most difficult class of the day was the popular Kiddie Klass, open to youngsters between three and seven years old, showing a junior calf.

"I quit!" she quipped to the audience of parents, breeders and friends when confronted with a showring full of ten wide-eyed children tightly clutching the halters of their well-trained calves. But after careful evaluation and a brief chat with each competitor about their calf, judge Roberts selected two winners.

Cory Thompson was selected the first-place winner for his showmanship skills. Six-year-old Cory is the son of Tammy and Roy Thompson, Coredale Farms, East Berlin, and has been a Kiddie Klass participant since he was three.

Second-place winner was Joseph Hushon, son of Patti and Dan Hushon, Delta.

Bull Goes To ABS

DeFOREST, Wis. — American Breeders Service has chosen 29 H7461 Pen-Col ULTIMATE Dream-ET to enter their progeny test (PT) program. This young Holstein bull was bred by Pen-Col Farms of Millville, Pennsylvania.

29 H7461 ULTIMATE is a Singing-Brock N-B Mascot-ET son from Pen-Col-A Star Dream-ET, one of the most famous young Blackstar daughters in the world. ULTIMATE's dam is scored Very Good-86 and is backed by the Bell Dream cow at Pen-Col. Pen-Col Bell Dream's sons are noted for siring nice udders and foot and leg improvement. ULTIMATE is an early Mascot son from this very popular bloodlilne. Adding Blackstar and Mascot on the Bell Dream foundation should make ULTIMATE an outstanding prospect for superior type, great udders, and top production.

ULTIMATE joins the many young dairy bulls being tested this year through the ABS Progeny Test Program. His semen will be distributed within contracted PT herds across the U.S.

Nolan Shows Kimberton Fair Grand Ayrshire, Holstein

KIMBERTON (Chester Co.) — Kevin Nolan, of Cochranville, showed the grand champion Ayreshire and Holstein in the annual Chester County fair, held at the Kimberton Fairgrounds last week, two days after he did the same thing during the Chester County 4-H Roundup.

In the Ayrshire Show, Nolan showed Deamnol Johnny's Snow, a 3-year-old, to take the senior and grand champion titles.

The junior champion of the Ayrshire show was S&M Ayr IRS Ola, an intermediate calf shown by Becky Nolan.

He also did well, winning both fitting and showing honors for the intermediate aged group of Ayrshire showpeople.

In the Holstein show, Nolan showed a 2-year-old to take the senior and grand championship titles for both the open and youth division.

In the youth show, the junior champion of the youth division was an intermediate yearling owned by Jarrod Johns, of Pottstown.

Amy Plummer, of Doylestown, showed 3-year-old Top-O-Hill Admiral Pansy to take the senior and grand champion of the youth show.

Tarik Gaffney, of Downingtown, showed Top-O-Hill Juno Tootsie Roll, a senior yearling, to win the the junior champion honors of both the open and junior division shows.

In the Guernsey show, Julie Sollenberger swept open and youth division shows to capture both senior and grand champion titles with her entries.

Taking both youth and open show junior championships were entries by junior yearling owned by Karen Wolfgang of Montgomery County.

The election of pork producer delegate candidates for the 1994 National Pork Prodeucers delegate body will take place at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, August 19, 1993, in conjunction with a board of directors meeting of the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council at the Region VI office of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in Summerdale, Pennsylvania. All Pennsylvania pork producers are invited to attend.

Any producer who is a resident of the state and has paid all assessments due under the national 100% checkoff may be considered as a delegate candidate and participate in voting. Nominations will be taken from the floor at the time of election. For more information, contact the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council, 1631 Grim Road, Kutztown, Pa. 19530. Phone: (215) 285-6519.

Clinic For Special Children Auction Set

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.)—Donations of saleable items are again requested for the benefit auction for the Clinic for Special Children. The auction will be September 18, 1993, at the Leola Produce Auction site on Brethern Chruch Road, Leola. All proceeds will go to the clinic, a non-profit organization with Dr. Holmes Morton as the attending physician.

Dr. Morton has taken a special interest in several hereditary diseases, and by testing all newborn babies of high-risk parentage, he has been able to prevent irreversible brain damage of many of these young children. The same tests that are at the clinic for $35.00 would cost $350.00 to $400.00 at major medical centers, making these test too expensive for many parents. The costs of owning and operating this laboratory equipment are huge. But with the funds from this annual auction, the clinic has been able to offer this service to their clients at a price that is affordable to the average parent.

Donations can be made to the committee persons. If you have items that should be on the sale bill, you need to make contact by Wednesday, Aug. 11. For more information contact Leonard Hurst, Lititz. Phone: (717) 626-4863.

Lancaster 4-H Fair Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Food, animals, games and kids will fill the Lampeter Fairgrounds Aug. 11 through 13 when the Lancaster County 4-H Fair season.

The fair is a showcase for myriad projects 4-H'ers have completed in the past year. Visitors will have the opportunity to view everything imaginable from scrapbooks to sheep. But exhibits are just a part of the fair, which also includes contests, food and game booths, and presentations that allow 4-H'ers to demonstrate their skill and knowledge.

In addition to the exhibits and booths, fairgoers can select from a busy schedule of daily activities. On Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. fairgoers will be treated to a costume contest — for sheep.

On Thursday, fair activities will include a sheep show at 10 a.m., a rocketry show at 5 p.m., and an archery contest at 5:30. Club demonstrations begin at 11 a.m. and continue throughout the day. 4-H presentations will begin at 3:30 p.m.

On Thursday evening fairgoers can check out a commodity contest featuring dairy products beginning at 6 p.m., a seeing eye puppy demonstration beginning at 6:30 p.m., and a showman of showman contest at 7:15 p.m.

Friday's activities will include a horse show at 1 p.m. and a horseless show at 2:30 p.m. A beef show will begin at 3 p.m.

The fair will close Friday evening at 6 p.m.

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — PRIME is the basic no-frills testing program that provides accurate, timely, and essential management information along with production records that carry the "DHIA NAME" and at a cost that gives you the most return for your dollar!

A DHIA technician helps you get started, he or she can explain how to report the information on the easy-to-use barnsheet and how to weigh and sample each cow's production on your test day. The technician is then available as a resource person to help in any way possible.

PRIME Program allows the member to collect and record the data, eliminating the labor of the technician. You would be a direct member of the State association and not subject to county association assessment.

The PRIME program has nine different options. You may choose to decide how often you want to test your herd. You can test every month of the year, every other month or quarterly; you decide when. You can choose to weigh and sample each cow's milk each month; one milking or both, or you may choose to just weigh the milk and not take samples every month, or you may choose certain cow's to test.

As a member enrolled in PRIME we will have your individual cow and herd production records on file in our computer at Ihe PA processing center. One advantage is that your records are in our computer and can be transferred at no cost if you would choose to change tyhpe test. As a PRIME member "moving up the ladder" into a more complex, or "official" program is an opportunity to use the young sire semen form the A.I. studs.

PRIME designed in the first place for the producers who want management records with a minimum of effort and cost. It also appeals to those producers who find the full range of information services in DHI, AMIPM, and DHIR either too complicated or too expensive.

PRIME is available across the state of Pennsylvania at a variety of cost, considering equipment needs, technician involvement, and the wide range of options within the program. If you are interested in what this low cost service program has to offer, or if you know of a dairy producer who could use PRIME, (or any of our other programs, please contact a DHIA technician or Region Manager for details. Please feel free to also call the DHIA office in State College at 1-800-344-8378 and ask for assistance.

A LOW COST DHIA PROGRAM TO MANAGE YOUR HERD?

If you're not using Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Association to keep track of your cows, this program is for you. Unlike the Official DHI program, where the supervisor stays ont he farm and collects all the data and samples, this program "OWNER SAMPLER" you the client can do the work and eliminate the labor cost of the technician.

For accurate production records and complete processing, it is necessary to report fresh dates, dry dates, purchased and removed dates. Sick cows, breeding records and feeding data are optional and can also be entered if you choose to.

The computer generated reports produced from this data are identical to those produced for the "official" type programs, but OWNER SAMPLER records are "unofficial" by USDA, NAAB and Breed Association, but every bit as valuable to you the member for management purposes.

The OWNER SAMPLER has the privilege of making on the spot adjustments to milk weights for sick cows, odd milking hours and for the rare occasion of a meter malfuction. You can also set up the "test day" in advance and are spared the need to comply with the policies and procedures governing "official" programs.

PA DHIA offers the following different management OWNER SAMPLER records:

40 DHI-OS — Owner-Sampler — All milkings in a 24-hour period and weighed and sampled.

41 DHI-OS-AP — Owner-Sampler AM/PM — where only one milking is weighed and sampled monthly on an alternating is for 2 x herds. For 3x herds, 2 milkings are weighed and one sampled on an alternating basis.

42 DHI-OS-APCS — Owner-Sampler AM/PM Component Sample — All milkings in a 24-hour period are weighed and one milking sampled monthly on an alternating basis.

43 DHIA-OS-MO — Owner-Sampler Milk Only — All milkings in a 24-hour period are weighed, but not sampled.

44 EHI-OS-MO-AP — Owner-Sampler Milk Only AM/PM — Only one milking is weighed on an alternating basis each mouth, but not sampled.

45 DHI-OS-AC — Owner-Sampler Average Components — with average breed or plant components used - Only All milking in

Lebanon Livestock Sale Grosses $62,960

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — Support from Lebanon County and regional agribusiness came in the way of $62,960 being paid last week for 101 pigs, 18 steers and 71 lambs raised by county youth as market livestock animals.

The annual sale at the end of the Lebanon Area Fair week is a highlight of the event, providing a final climax of selling a market steer, hog, or lamb after months spent raising and caring for the animal and training it to be handled in the showring.

The members of the Lebanon County Livestock Club also donated the proceeds from the sale of its hog carcass and lamb carcass competition entries to the Lebanon Valley Expo Corporation, the entity which actually owns the fairgrounds. That amount totaled $875 — $450 for hog carcass sales and $425 for the lamb carcasses.

The sale average on the market hogs was $263.25 on a total of $26,064.; on the steers, it was $1,212.50 on a total of $21,825; and on the lambs it was $196.27 with a total of $13,935.

The grand champion market hog shown by Scott Nolt, son of Allen and Carol Nolt, was bought for $1,100 by Farmer Boy Ag/MACH Partners.

From the left, Gary Matthews, representing an area business group involved in hog production operations, Scott Nolt the exhibitor of the grand champion market hog, and another business representative, all help hold a plaque recognizing the buyer's support of youth livestock production efforts. Also shown is Jamie Irwin, Lebanon Area Fair queen.

The reserve grand champion hog was shown by Roxanne Kirst, daughter of Roger and Ferm Kirst, was bought by Hatfield Quality Meats for $625.

The grand champion steer shown by Jason Shirk, son of Thomas Arnold and Dawn Shirk, was bought by Hoss's Steak and Sea House for $2,000.

The reserve champion, shown by Nathan Spatz, son of Brian and Joanne Spatz, sold for $1,200 to Heisey's Diner.

Herd Genetic Profile

Improvements in dairy herd performance can be attributed to genetics and herd management. The challenge dairy producers face is to breed good genetics into the herd and then manage the herd in a manner that will enable cows to perform to their genetic potential, and to do so profitably.

Your DHIA records can provide a clue to the genetic progress of your herd. Table 1 is a section of Raleigh's DHIA Herd Summary Report. It shows the genetic profile of the herds on official test in Lancaster County. A similar genetic profile can be found on the Pa. DHIA Herd Summary Report II.

HERD PTA $ OPTION	GENETIC PROFILE OF SERVICE SIRES
	PROVEN A.I. SIRES	A.I. YOUNG SIRES	ALL OTHER SIRES
% OF HERD BRED TO	65	22	13
NUMBER OF BULLS USED	12	7	4
AVERAGE PTA $ OR PA $	+233	+219	+61
AVERAGE PERCENTILE RANK

Using the county average in Table 1 as an example, 65% of the services were to A.I. proven sires, 22% were to A.I. young sires, and "other" sires accounted for the remaining 13%. The PTA$ for the proven sires was +233 compared to +219 for the young sires — not much difference. The PTA$ of these service sires is an estimate of how profitable the future daughters of these sires will be compared to herdmates sired by bulls with PTA$ of zero. The PTA$ in Table 1 is blank, but producers can choose 1 of 3 options: PTA$ MFP (milk, fat and protein), PTA$ MF (milk and fat) or PTA$ CY (cheese yield).

It is interesting to note that the PTA$ of the randomly used young sires is almost equal to those of the more selectively used proven sires. Both of these far exceeded the PTA$ of "other" bulls, many of which in these official herds probably were "clean-up" bills and "heifer settlers."

The PTA$ for "other" bulls used in unofficial herds (not shown) was +141 compared to the +61 in Table 1. These "other" bulls probably farm bulls, accounted for 50% of all the services in the unofficial herds. The unofficial herds probably made more of an effort to select farm bulls out of genetically superior cows, but in spite of these efforts their PTA$ were still about 100 less than for the two groups of A.I. sires in Table 1.

Table 2

SERVICE OR HEAT INTERVALS		SERVICES FOR PAST 12 MONTHS
INTERVAL LENGTH	NUMBER INTERVALS	SERVICE NUMBER	NUMBER SERVICES	% SUCCESSFUL	SERVICE SIRE PTA $
		1ST	52	48	221
18-24	11	2ND	25	51	218
36-48	7	3RD +	22	49	210
OTHER	20	TOTAL	101	48	216

Not shown for the county average in Table 1 are the percentile rankings of sires used. These should appear on herd summary reports for individual herds. A good goal is to choose sires in the 80 percentile group or higher.

Table 2 also contains some information on service sire PTA$. The average PTA$ of sires used for 1st services was 221, compared to 210 for 3rd and greater services. In other words, there was a slight tendency to not waste expensive semen and good genetics on problem breeders. The average PTA$ for all sires used was 218.

So far, we have been talking about service sires. Table 3 shows the AIPL PTA$ of the cows and their sires. These estimates are calculated by AIPL (Animal Improvement Programs Laboratory at USDA in Beltsville, Md.) using the Animal Model method. AIPL PTA$ can be calculated on registered or grade cows, living or dead, if the cows have at least one usable official record and their sires are identified. At least 25% of the herd must have sires with PTA$ values reported for average PTA$ of sires to be calculated.

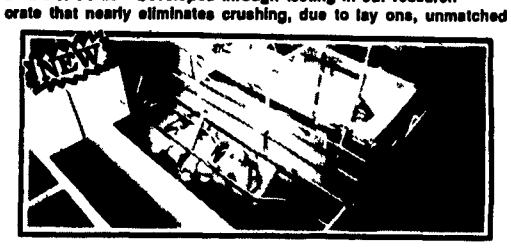
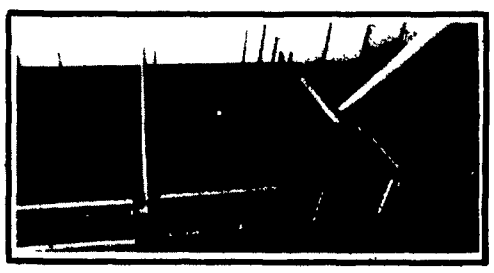
PIG SAVER "DUTCH CRATE" Developed through testing in our research farms the goal was to develop a crate that nearly eliminates crushing, due to lay ons, unmatched durability and be easy to work around. All this has been achieved by a unique gravity fliprail that forces sows to lie down slowly and using stainless steel for rear doors and legs, proven horizontal and solid steel rod construction. All this at a reasonable cost. Crate also can be installed on an angle.



CONFINEMENT STALL
Developed recently in our R&D farm. Our goals were convenience, safety and durability. The low back and flat top rails are easy to reach over with no sharp edges. Stainless steel rear legs and front feet along with solid steel horizontal rods through punched uprights provide the strongest, most durable stall ever produced by Tri-County (21"-24" O.C. x 86")

NURSERY PENNING
Nursery penning has been improved by the use of an optional solid stainless steel panel on the front gates which keeps walkways clean. Stainless steel verticals on penning eliminates corrosion where penning attaches to the floor. Stainless steel drinker pipes & mounting brackets also increase durability.



FINISHING PENNING
Optional stainless steel verticals and fasteners offer improved durability over other similar types of penning. Loop and flapper latch arrangement eliminates the use of drop pins. Stainless steel fence line feeders provide excellent durability and a minimum of waste.

Cornfield Converted To Maze To Help Flood Vicitms

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

ANNVILLE (Lebanon Co.) — Gerald and Connie Hoffer, of Annville, aren't telling in which field the dinosaur resides. They and others fear that public knowledge would invite curiosity and thrill seekers who inevitably would end up causing the destruction of the giant.

Clarification is needed.

The Hoffers raise cash crops on a number of acres in the Annville-Palmyra area and corn, naturally, is one the their best.

They didn't allow some reptillian monster to take over one of their cornfields. What they did was allow a group of people to use the cornfield in the construction of the world's largest maze — a 126,000 square foot image of a huge dinosaur, a Stegosaurus.

The purpose of the two miles of trail cut throught the field is double: raise money to be used by the American Red Cross specificly for Midwest flood relief efforts (farmers helping farmers); and attempt to get into the Guiness Book of World Records for the largest maze ever created (on purpose).

On Sept. 11 and Sept. 12, the maze is to be open to the public for a $5-per-person opportunity to conquer the huge game.

Only closer to the date is the exact field location to be publicized.

Officials and a student at Lebanon Valley College are behind the concept of meshing the objectives of going for a world record, raising funds to assist the suffering, and providing an opportunity for fun.

Adrian Fisher, of Hertfordshire, England, is the maze designer. According to the college, he and his company, Minotaur Designs, create mazes around the world.

According to a college press release, "Fisher stated that this was the largest maze he'd ever attempted and the first one he'd tried in a corn field."

"It's a first in many ways," Fisher said in the statement. "The sheer scale of it was quite daunting, but I'm pleased with the way it is turning out."

Don Frantz, a LVC alumnus who was born and raised in Hummelstown, came up with the idea, according to the college. Frantz, who works for the Walt Disney Company, Orlando, Fla., said the maze would be an activity that would provide fun for students and the surrounding community.

"It's an ideal community event that everyone — old and young — can participate in. It's a perfect family activity, an activity that can draw people together.

In addition to attempting to tackle the maze during the two days in September, there is also planned games, chicken barbecue, hot air balloon rides and other, to-be-announced activities for participants to enjoy.

Volunteers actually cut the paths through the corn, led by student Joanne Marx, a senior from Sparta, N.J., who is majoring in hotel management. It had taken more than two weeks to prepare.

On Monday, Marx got to see the creation from the air — the only way to truly visually encompass the beast. "We knew then, we'd done it right. It was an emotional moment."

Gerald Hoffer said the volunteers dug the corn stalks out by hand, but he expects to be able to salvage some of the corn. He said he figured the work would effectively destroy an acre of corn.

And while he was paid something for the destruction of the corn, it was far from being a profitable venture. But he added that because, "It's going for the flood effort. We really feel good about it coming off."

Hoffer also said he was told to expect about 5,000 people, but that attendance could reach as high as 25,000.

GLENN'S UDDERINGS

ter than that of 2nd, 3rd and greater lactation cows and their sires, genetic progress in the herd is being made. The county averages in Table 3 show good progress. The PTA$ of 1st lactation cows is +101, $45 greater than the +56 for 3rd lactation and older cows. An even greater improvement is seen in their sires' PTA$, 177 compared to 114.

I have just received the Semi-Annual Sire and Service Sire Summary for the County. The averages are shown in Table 4. How does your herd compare to these averages?

Table 4

	PTAM	PTAF	PTA$
Service Sire	+2086	+68	+242
Sires of:
1st Lact. Cows	+1625	+57	+192
Older Cows	+1212	+44	+143
All Cows	+1307	+47	+154

Here again, genetic progress is evident. The service sires are several generations "never" than the sires of the cows and they should have higher PTA$. In Table 4, the PTA$ of the current service sires is about $100 greater than the sires of the older cows. The PTA$ of the sires of the 1st lactation cows is about $50 greater than that of the sires of the older cows.

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — On Monday, July 19, 1993, the Chester County DHIA Board of Directors approved and signed a "Memorandum of Agreement" betwee PA DHIA and the county organization. The Chester County board has decided to remain an independent county, but to continue to have PA DHIA provide all the laboratory and data processing services. The agreement merely states the responsibilities of both organizations so that a complete, accurate and informative service can be provided for Chester County dairymen.

Actually, Chester County will continue to operate as in past years before centralization was proposed and implemented. The board is responsible for employing the technicians, including their compensation and benefits, and for determining the fee schedule for farmers. They also purchase and maintain the testing equipment, including meters and scales.

The county board handles and/or reports official rules violations. They also act as a hearing board for concerns of technicians and dairymen. It is important that all DHIA members know that they must adhere to the rules of the National and PA DHIA. The technicians are instructed to make no exceptions. Animal identification sometimes presents a problem when a dairyman has not received the registration paper for a new cow. The technician must see the actual registration paper before the cow can be officially identified on the DHIA report.

PA DHIA agrees to furnish laboratory services, certified data processing services, educational material for farmers and training for technicians. They also certify milk meter and scale calibrations, and offer a repair service for the meters. The state board offers due process hearings for allegations of official rule violations.

The Chester County DHIA Board decided to remain an independent county rather than become part of the state centralized system because they feel that they can offer the same quality of service at a lower cost to their dairymen. They believe that keeping control of the testing program at the county level makes the system more responsive to the needs of the dairy farmers and the technicians.

However, they also feel that the excellent lab facilities and the new programs implemented by PA DHIA offer the best system for Chester County DHIA members. PA DHIA has taken some giant strides in the past year to offer a broad program that will satisfy the needs of all dairymen. Lap-top computers are now being introduced across the state so that farmers can have print-outs available the day the technician is there. The reports are constantly being improved to meet the needs of modern dairying. Yes, there is a program for all size herds and with a wide variety of pricing plans.

Chester County DHIA and PA DHIA anticipate a successful working agreement that will be to the benefit of all Chester County DHIA members.

Surrounded by 4-H'ers, leaders, building representatives and officials, contractor Robert Kinsley turned the ceremonial shovelful of ground for the addition of a livestock exposition area to the York County 4-H Center.

As part of the winning team in the Kiss-The-Pig election, York Extension director Roxanne Price takes her turn at smooching wiht Zelda, held by livestock agent Tim Beck. Pig kissing votes earned $200 toward the 4-H Center expansion fund.

York 4-H Breaks Ground For Expansion

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

BAIR (York Co.) — Despite the hard pack of drought-dried soil, contractor Robert Kinsley scraped together enough loose ground for the symbolic groundbreaking shovelful.

About 200 members, parents and supporters of the York 4-H program applauded Kinsley's efforts, the ceremonial beginning of a long-awaited addition to its present facilities. Groundbreaking for the York 4-H livestock exposition area was a highlight of the July 24 closing day of the weeklong county 4-H Fair, held at the Center, located just outside the village of Bair.

Prior to groundbreaking, District 94 legislator Rep. Stan Saylor presented the 4-H exhibition area committee with a $10,000 legislative initiative check he had been instrumental in obtaining for the youth program's building project. Also on hand was Chris Herr, representing the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, which contributed a $15,000 grant to the expansion project. Those contributions, along with the $25,000 in the 4-H expansion fund, represent about a quarter of the total $200,000 estimated cost of the facility additions.

Other officials taking part in the groundbreaking included District 93's Rep. Michael Waugh and York County Commissioner George Trout. Clark Craumer, for project engineers Stallman and Stahlman, Dover contractor Byron Waggoner and Tom Frantz, expansion committee chairman and employee of architects Crabtree, Rohrbaugh and Associates, also participated.

Most of the groundbreaking participants were former 4-H members and several remain involved as leaders. Many of the professional services of the participating firms are being donated for the Center's expansion.

Although final approval for construction was granted in June by the West Manchester Township supervisors, approvals must still clear the Department of Environmental Resources.

Five phases of expansion are planned, beginning with construction of a 70 feet by 144 feet pole building for livestock events. Estimated cost of the pole structure is $51,000, with actual building expected to be under way by fall.

In, later phases, concrete flooring will be poured in the livestock pole building and an outdoor arena constructed. A gardening area, archery range, and exercise trail are also in the drawings. Longer-range plans include construction of outdoor cattle washracks and installing kitchen facilities in the livestock building. Paving of the parking area, installation of toilets and further furnishing of the facility is on target for 1997.

The present 10,000 square feet 4-H Center building on its park-like wooded setting was constructed in 1968, on 14 acres of land donated by John Shearer, Sr. and William Gentzler.

"We're very excited about it," says York County extension direc-

From the left, Tom Pastor, of Farm Press Feeds Inc., is the buyer of Daryl Bomgardner's grand champion complete market hog.

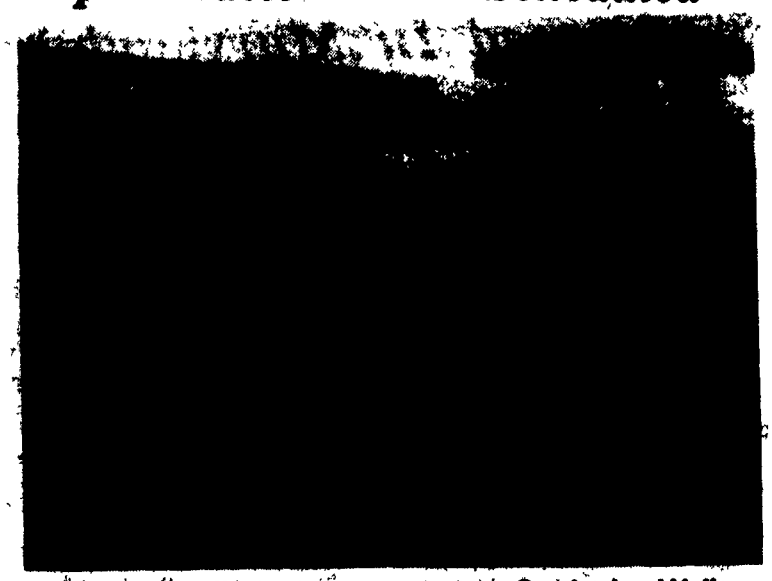
Cumberland Antique Tractor Show Scheduled

CHAMPBERSBURG (Franklin Co.)—A special event for The Cumberland Valley Antique Engine and Machinery Association will be August 13 to 15 at the Twin Bridge Camp Grounds located west of Chambersburg just off Route 30. This is the 11th year antique tractors and engines will be showing off their stuff from yester-year.

Each year a different make of tractor is featured, and this year it's John Deere. Demonstrations will be shelling corn, bailing straw, sawing wood, and threashing wheat. A blacksmith will be working, and a flea market and petting zoo will be open. Some new machinery will also be on display.

Admission is free, but campers should check in at the camp ground office.

John Bricker, past president, said the purpose of the organization is to preserve and display antique tractors and engines. The association of 140 members has purchased land and plans to build a museum.



These oil-pull tractors are part of the Cumberland Valley Antique Engine and Machinery display. They were made in Peoria, Illinois, and are cooled with oil. They were used mostly for belt power.

tor Roxanne Price.

"This offers us more opportunity to pull the whole county 4-H program together in one location. It also presents the opportunity to bring young people in from urban areas, elementary schools for instance, to put them in touch with agriculture and with animals, and where they can learn about the importance of agriculture, of animals and of their by-products."

Livestock agent Tim Beck foresees the expansion as a way for both members and non-members of 4-H to get more hands-on animal experience.

"Members will be better able to actually work with animals during their meetings; this building will give them more actual involvement in what they're learning about," he noted during the brief groundbreaking program. "It's also a place for shows, a place for sales, and a place to encourage urban members to become familiar with the care and use of animals.

"We have a long way to go yet and will need a lot of help and hands-on assistance from 4-H'ers, parents, and supporters," says 4-H leader Tom Frantz, who is chairing the expansion committee.

Fund-raising for the expansion project continued through the weeklong 4-H Fair, highlighted by a Kiss The Pig election which added some $200 to the drive. Each penny of contribution earned a vote, with "candidates" campaigning - and contributing - for their opponents. Nominated as pig smoochers were Rep. Mike Waugh, County Commissioner George Trout, contractor Bob Kinsley, and a collective-team of five 4-H leaders.

In the final tally, 4-H'ers had pushed the pennies to put their leaders at the top of the pig-kissing election. Their efforts paid off as the leader team, headed by county extension director and 4-H coordinator Roxanne Price, lined up to smooch with 40-pound Zelda, from Wilson Yorkshires, New Freedom.

CENTRAL MARYLAND

Reserve Grand went to a nine year old cow, Unicorn Helen, dam of Hannah the Grand Champion. Helen was exhibited by Unicorn, Linden and Loch of Union Bridge, Md.

Reserve Grand in 4-H went to Kevin Ehrhardt, Baldwin, with Ehrhardt Astro Jody-ET. Md-Carrollton Polo Sort, exhibited by Sam Muller, of Westminster was Junior 4-H Champion while Reserve Junior Champion in 4-H went to Kelly Myers of New Windsor for her intermediate yearling, Windsor-Manor Vintage Keeka.

The Central District Show is made up of exhibitors from Baltimore, Harford, Howard and Carroll counties who entered 109 animals.

Monsanto Supports Flood Victims

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Monsanto Agricultural Group announced today that it will contribute up to $2 million to the American Red Cross to help support flood victims in rural areas of the Midwest.

Monsanto today contributed $1 million directly to the Red Cross and is setting aside another $1 million in an account that will be used to match individual or business contributions on a dollar for dollar basis, said Hendrik A. Verfaillie, President of Monsanto Agricultural Group. Contributions will be directed to Red Cross chapters in rural flood-stricken areas.

"The flood devastation is incredible, and relief organizations are hard-pressed to meet the demands that have been placed on them," Verfaillie said. "This contribution is intended to help the farmers and residents of rural communities who have been hard hit by the flood."

He said Monsanto is working with agribusiness across the Midwest to encourage those who were unaffected to contribute to flood relief for farmers and other rural residents.

Contributions to this flood relief effort may be made through Oct. 31, 1993. A credit card contribution can be made by calling the Red Cross at 1-800-842-2200 and designating "Monsanto Matching Contribution." Or a check can be sent to the American Red Cross Rural Flood Relief, P.O. Box 66921, St. Louis, MO 63166-6692. Checks should be marked "Monsanto Matching Contribution" to receive matching funds.

"This gift will help meet emergency needs in the agricultural areas so severely affected by the flooding," said Deborah Patterson, Chapter Executive Officer of the St. Louis Bi-State Chapter of the American Red Cross.

ity of cooperative members to change their mind between the time a cooperative position is determined and the actual referendum.

The vote on the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board came as a result of a petition drive organized in the Midwest by the "Dump the National Dairy Board Campaign."

Over time, the organization compiled enough signatures to satisfy a requirement that they show a strong enough percentage of dairy producers to bring the question to a referendum.

The movement started because of anti-BST efforts. BST is an acronym for Bovine somatotropin which is a naturally occuring protein hormone that, in a cow, regulates the flow of nutrients to the mammary, and thus the secretion of milk.

Additional BST in a cow results in additional milk produced and several biotechnology companies have produced synthetic BST through the use of genetically engineered bacteria — the same process used to manufacture most of the insulin used by diabetics.

Opposition to the use of biotechnology has been a force in calling for the dumping of the NDB.

The dairy board, which was created to promote the safety and consumption of milk, as well as to conduct research, derives its funding from a portion of a 15-cent per hundredweight of milk promotion assessment.

The opposition to the dairy board arose when the board, in an attempt to allay public fears about milk derived from BST-treated cows (which has for years been approved for human consumption since there is no such thing as milk without BST and humans have been ingesting and digesting the protein), began to direct efforts to public education about BST.

Those in opposition to BST started up the Dump the NDB campaign and, over time, gained enough signatures to force the vote.

In the meantime, the core of the group which worked to gain signatures also filed a class action lawsuit against U.S. Secretary Mike Espy (because he is now secretary) seeking to eliminate the practice of bloc voting.

According to published reports 102 farmers from 10 states joined in supporting the lawsuit, for which a trial is set for Sept. 15, according to the July 23 issue of Wisconsin State Farmer.

However, the group sought an injunction against bloc voting for the referendum, but that has been denied by Judge John Shabaz. In the meantime, the referendum is to continue as scheduled.

Eventually, however, should the suit actually come to a trial (a pretrial conference is reportedly set for Sept. 7 to determine whether or not to dismiss the case), and if it be found that bloc voting is unconstitutional, then the referendum could be nullified.

The 3900 flex-wing... good news for today's farming.

It's time to take a new look at disk harrows. Especially the new Case International 3900 flex-wing disk harrow. It's the easiest-pulling, level-est-working disk harrow you can hook up to today's high-horsepower tractors.

Here's how the 3900 meets performance, reliability and durability challenges like nothing else in the field:

■ It offers superior gang strength from a massive welded tubular unibody frame — good for years of trouble-free operation.

■ A unique self-leveling spring-loaded hitch transfers weight between tractor and disk to maintain ground-hugging performance regardless of ridges and gullies. The 3900 stirs and mixes soil, chemicals and residue consistently — even at high operating speeds. This promotes uniform germination.

■ A new mechanical stop depth control eliminates variances common with master/slave systems. It's great for uniform incorporation.

■ Earth Metal® crimp-center blades give you sharp penetration and an easy pull that saves fuel. Plus extra durability that means fewer replacements.

Want more good news? Stop in today.

Follow Your Dream With A Stagecoach

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

HALLAM (York Co.) — Nearly everyone has a dream.

Some folks dream of wealth, some of travel, some of power or property.

Alex Seigfried II had a dream. He wanted a stagecoach.

A stagecoach is not an everyday, readily-available item. Still, from the time he was 14 and worked at Lauxmont Farms near Wrightsville, Alex II had become enthralled with the idea of owning this symbol of the old West.

"Let'a build a stagecoach," Alex II said to his father, Alex Sr., last fall.

Alex Seigfried, Sr., York R11, had taken early retirement from the IBM company and was considering turning his building/cabinetry/woodworking hobby into a second career of building reproduction furniture. He pondered his son's suggestion only briefly.

"You're out of your mind," father replied to son.

Not one to abandon a dream too quickly, Alex II persisted. The operator of an excavating business, he hoped someday to own a small farm where he could keep a few horses, using them to pull a stagecoach in public events, like parades, to advertise his business. After continuing persuasion from his son, Alex Sr. agreed to at least look at a stagecoach.

"We couldn't find one to go look at," he recalls of their dilemma. Even the state museum at Harrisburg had no stagecoach. After some sleuthing, they tracked down coaches in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. and at a Long Island museum. Meanwhile, they began researching stagecoach history and lore.

"Stagecoaches were only made by the company of Abbott and Downing, of Concord, New Hampshire," relates Alex Sr. "Abbot was a wheelwright and blacksmith and Downing was a cabinetmaker; they got together in 1832. Abbott was the 'engineer' of the project and Downing was the 'perfectionist' who had an instinctive knack for picking the right woods for the job."

About 20 years later, the partners separated. Their children ran separate companies for awhile, eventually got the firm back together and later took in another partner. In all, five separate companies built the coaches, but all were Abbott-Downing related in some fashion.

Abbott and Downing built both "mudwagons," the farm-truck of the 1800s and "roadcoaches," the travel equivalent of today's bus. Mudwagons were more rugged, squared and utilitarian, for hauling freight and commodities. Road or stagecoaches had a more rounded, stylish design. But they were nevertheless overland travel vehicles which needed to traverse rough roads and ford streams under weather's extremes, and required durability.

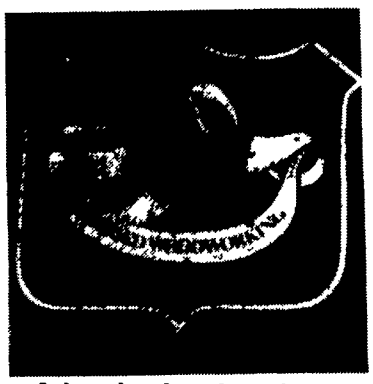
"The stagecoach shape is taken from an eggshell. Its strength came from the use of tongue-and-groove boards; that was their strongest method of construction," explains Seigfried. "Bows, the frame of the coach, were steam bent."

At peak production, the Massachusetts firm made about 2,000 vehicles annually. Abbott and Downing and its spinoffs remained in business for about 70 years total. Seigfried estimates that a total of 5,000 roadcoaches were manufactured in that time. The last were built about 1910.

"There are reportedly 12 of the originals left in the United States, two of them at the Smithsonian," he notes. Most he believes, just rotted away, abandoned to motored transportation.

In 1832, a roadcoach sold new for about $1,200, a considerable investment for its time. Today, an original stagecoach is worth about $90,000.

But, a brand new one can be had for $25,000. That's the price-tag on Siegfried Woodworking's hand-crafted stagecoach. Their coach No. 1 is getting a few final, finishing touches, with parts of three more in various stages of construction at their Hallam factory.



A hand-painted eagle, finished in gold leaf, is the numbered, signature identification of the Siegfried Woodworking coach.

Shiny, fire-engine red with bright yellow undercarriage, Siegfried Woodworking's completed stagecoach No. 1 is beautifully handcrafted, while durable and roadworthy.

The beautifully-crafted, fire engine-red coach is finished with black and yellow pin-stripe details and a decorative eagle, in gold leaf, on each side of the front boot. It runs on a bright-yellow undercarriage, with rubber-edged steel wheels turning on Farmington hubs and Timken bearings. Picture-perfect, Stagecoach No. 1 is a tribute to determination, research, long hours, inventiveness, sweat and some heated "discussions" along the way.

Alex Sr. had woodworking "in his blood." His father and grandfather were cabinetmakers in the Bloomsburg area and dabbled in it over the years. Alex Sr. even built several houses. But the project that really tested his research and craftsmanship detail skills and was building a suit of armor for the Eastern School District's knight, the school "mascot."

"It was team effort that took thousands of hours of research; I learned how to research historic things," Seigfried says of the crafting challenge of creating the suit of thousands of tiny metal pieces. By comparison, the father-son research on stagecoach building took several hundred hours.

While pictures of stagecoaches are plentiful, patterns, and directions are virtually non-existent. And, various construction methods have been utilized over the years for different coach elements. The Smithsonian granted them permission to measure their originals and assisted with reproduction copies of scale drawings of the stagecoach's design.

Alex Siegfried, Sr. is the woodcraftsman of the stagecoach-building team. His wood-and-glue lamination technique was adapted from boatbuilding and is similar to the method used in making paper mache'.

"Those were good for ideas, but were not a usable scale that we could work from. And, we had to adapt the design to what is available today," explains Seigfried.

Having a slender piece of oak steamed in the shape of a sidebow for their finished coach gave them a guide for the size of the undercarriage they would need to build. After serveral weeks of setting up equipment and workspace in Alex Sr.'s garage, stagecoach building got under way. Alex II, the blacksmith worker of the team, spent a full month handcrafting the extensive and exacting ironwork details of the undercarriage.

Their intent was to build the first complete coach in the garage; but in January, they were offered space in a large factory facility nearby. Already crowded and in need of a painting room, they put aside coach building and spent several more weeks again moving and setting up their equipment. It was early April when building of the coach construction was resumed.

Construction of the curved sided, wooden coach is done by laminating several thin layers of air-dried hardwoods, mostly oak and ash, and clamping the layers to a shaped form to dry. The layering of thin sections of woods — a technique similar to paper-mache — creates a finished coach shell that is light, while durable and very roadworthy. According to Alex, Sr., the project's woodworker, he finally settled on the laminating technique because of its success in boat building.

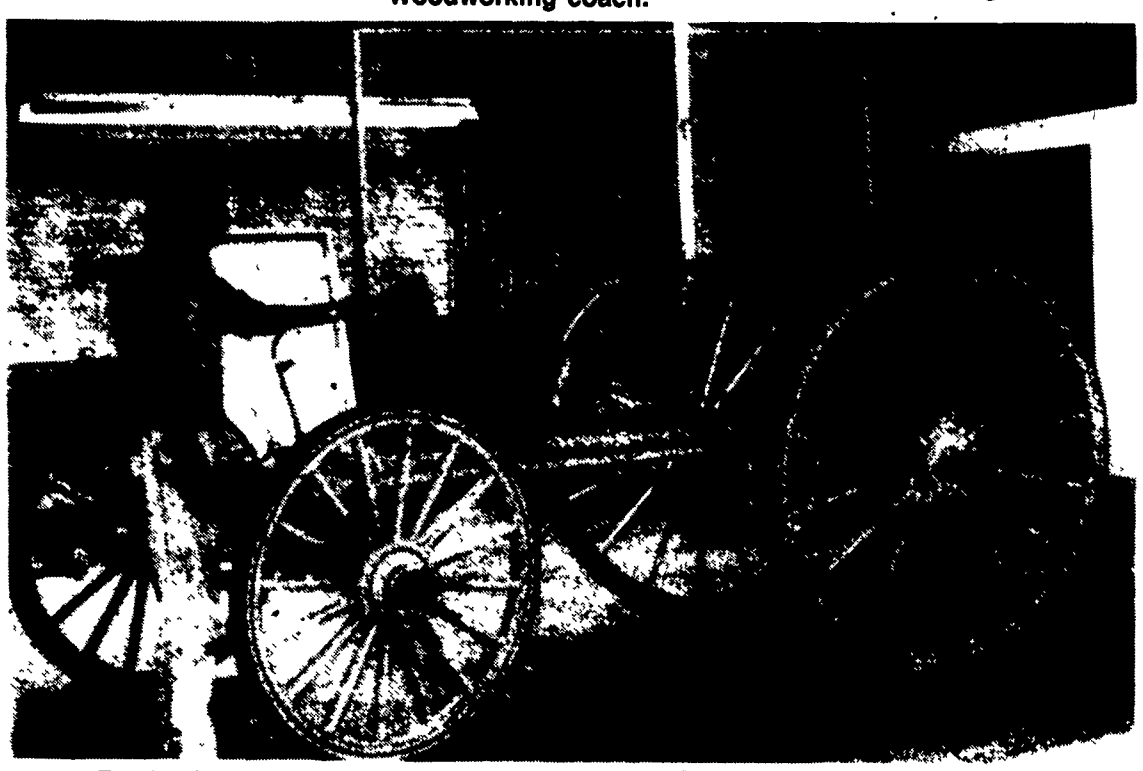
"We did a lot of arguing over how to build these sides," grins Alex II.

They are as strong, or stronger, than the originals were," explains Siegfried. "We wanted a good-looking piece that people can actually use, for parades, for weddings, for having fun with."

The cab is seven-feet long, with a 3½ feet boot on the front where the driver is seated. A trunk carrier on the back adds additional length. When set on the 16-feet-long undercarriage, the completed coach towers well over eight feet high. A metal-crafted step boosts passengers climbing in and out of the cab.

Modern wheels and hubs and avoidance of leather belts and straps in the design have eliminated the tedious everyday greasing and maintenance that original stagecoaches required. In fact, the rubber belts on which the coach rides — like the shocks in an automobile — are virtually maintenance free, with great strength and little stretch or sag. The Siegfrieds estimate the belting and undercarriage can probably support some-

(Turn to Page B3)



To check dimensions for their stagecoach, the Siegfrieds first had "sidebows" of wood steamed to shape, then visually compared the bows to the length and heighth of the undercarriage.

Beware Of Food Triggers

Temptations to eat are everywhere . . . Tv ads that take you to fast food restaurants, alluring smells from cookie shops in malls and bakeries in supermarkets. If these weren't enough, research suggests that even the colors on your cereal box and the wall decor of your favorite restaurant may be designed to rev up your appetite.

Psychologists have long recognized the impact color can have on human behavior. Several studies suggest that color can also impact appetite. In a study conducted at Johns Hopkins, simply changing the color of food carts and cups from orange and yellow to black and white decreased the amount of food sold during coffee breaks in a company cafeteria.

Warm hues like orange, red and yellow tend to make food look better and diners hungrier. The story is told that when Howard Johnson's first opened, the color scheme was light blue. People complained of the cold and food sales did not go well. After a color expert advised changing to bright orange, food sales went up 134 percent.

Music also appears to affect food intake, particularly the speed of eating. Research suggests that lively fast-paced music moves people to eat more and to put it away faster. Without music, participants in the study averaged 3.9 bites per minute and took about 40 minutes to finish a typical lunch. About one-third went back for second helpings.

When the "Stars and Stripes Forever" or some other spirited music were played, people sped up to about 5.1 bites per minute and finished their meals in a record 31 minutes. In addition about one-half went back for second helpings.

Soft classical music, in comparison, had a calming effect on diners. The eating pace slowed to 3.2 bites per minutes and participants took almost one hour to finish the same lunch. Perhaps most important, no one went back for seconds and several did not finish their meal.

Rock music seems to have contradictory effect. Young people eating to rock music almost inhaled their food in the study. In contrast, some older people complained they could not eat because of the racket.

Changing seasons and work shifts also may mean a weight shift for many. People who struggle with their weight typically gain during the winter months and lose during the summer months. Part of this is due to the differences in physical activity. However, research also shows that the shorter days of winter trigger depressions and subsequent overeating in some people.

With the many influences that drive us to overeat it is easy to conclude that weight management is a never-ending struggle we are destined to lose. Interestingly, control lies neither in totally succumbing to, nor in ignoring the urge to eat, especially since satisfying the desire to eat often makes us feel better emotionally and physically. Rather, the key is to be aware of environmental food triggers and then to indulge the urge to eat — in moderation.

Teen Attends 4-H Ambassador Conference

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Tanya Hofler, daughter of John and Ellen Hofler of Glenmoore, recently participated in the fifth annual Penn State 4-H Ambassador Conference held at the University Park Campus where she attended workshops on interviewing skills, public speaking and marketing. These Ambassadors will serve as spokespersons for the more than 120,000 4-H members throughout Pennsylvania. State 4-H Ambassadors promote the 4-H youth development program and the land-grant university system and are available to speak to groups about Penn State Cooperative Extension and 4-H.

Stagecoach

where between 9,000 to 12,000 pounds.

Interior of the coach is comparable in size to a compact car, with bench seats facing the center from front and back. Original coaches had an additional front-facing center seat, cramping knee space for riders in all three seats. The Seigfried's two-seat design allows riders more leg room, along with the luxurious finish of tufted, black leather seats, crushed red velvet ceiling and headcovers and black fringe finish around the upper edge. Even the black leather sidecurtains are lined with matching velvet. And a sliding glass window drops down into each door panel for more open-air riding.

Painting the coach proved to be a major challenge. Several paint mixes were tried - and sanded off - before the bright-red, enamel-shine finish was achieved. One mix promised red - and turned a bright pink. But their satisfaction with the finished product has been well worth the headaches, sleepless nights, scraped paint and crumpled sketch designs generated by this talented and inventive pair.

"We think this is how Abbott and Downing would build them today," the Seigfrieds are convinced.

"It's given me a lot more appreciation for how they used to build things," admits Alex, Sr. "We have easier methods we can adapt today."

Two local artists added their talent touches to enhance the finished coach's shiny-red beauty. Gleason Crumling painted the gold-leaf-finished, spread-winged eagle on each side of the boot, Siegfried Woodworking's signature logo which will authenticate and number each coach built. Chuck Farrah added the ornate black and yellow pin-striping detail.

Through friends and word-of-mouth, the Siegfrieds estimate they have five to 10 visitors most days stopping by to admire the stagecoach. And when it was hauled by trailer to Lancaster for the upholstery and interior work, the surprised and delighted reaction from passing automobies was readily visible.

"No, we don't really mind having to part with Number 1," philosophizes this father-son pair when asked about parting with their first completed coach, which is probably — and fittingly — headed West.

Later, they do hope to keep one for themselves. With a team hitched to the front, it will be a great way to advertise their business; Siegfried Woodworking - Stagecoach Builders.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

For days, I'd tried to figure out what was causing that sound.

It was just a quiet, little ticking, somewhere outside the front door. Periodically, I'd walk to the door, step out, and look around for some clue. A dry leaf stuck in a cobweb, being bumped against some other object by the breeze was what it sounded like.

While there were lots of dry leaves kicking around the porch, and a normal number of cobwebs strung in corners, the two hadn't seemed to get together anywhere near there. So the mystery continued. Until I spotted the bees some days later.

Not honey bees, not yellow jackets, but a couple of the little bees that folks around here refer to as "sweet bees" were busy working over the grapevine wreath on the door. Actually, they were working over the paper-twist wrap and bow on the wreath, chewing tiny holes in the cornhusk-like paper ribbon. A bee would land on the paper-twist, chew a hole and leave. With a couple of bees working the paper-twist at all times, their "gathering" caused the ticking.

And, somewhere out in the yard or up in the trees is a bee hive of sorts constructed of pale lavendar paper material.

The lavendar ribbon was to have been replaced long ago with a more summery sky blue or sunny yellow-gold. Someday. Meanwhile, the Easter-season paper-twist just hung there and faded over the weeks. If the bees stay busy as ....well, bees, the problem will solve itself.

That's just one of the slightly weird, perhaps hot-weather induced, behaviors of some of the critters lately around the farmstead. More irritating than intriguing has been the activity of our guinea hens.

While none of us can tell male and female guinea fowl apart, they can. That's obvious because a couple of guineas turned up behind the dairy barn recently with about 20 adorable, just-hatched chicks running all about their feet. Tiny things, they look like pheasant chicks, beige-colored with lots of darker brown stripes.

Next morning, the count was down to about 16. (They move constantly, so an accurate count is next to impossible.) By evening, more like 12. And by next day, none.

How has such a no-brain species managed to avoid extinction? These mothers go traipsing off through high grass and weeds, losing chicks right and left in the foliage, making them easy pickin's for our plentiful predators.

Frustrated at such a wanton loss of hatchlings (though we don't need 20 more guineas!), I vowed to pen the next hatch — if there was one. A day or so later, we spied another dozen or so tiny chicks, trying to stay together in the tall grass and weeds with a mother screeching her lungs out calling to them.

But you have to catch and pen them by darkness — and by post-evening chore time, the hen had long since sneaked off to nest somewhere for the night. And haven't been seen since.

Now, what would cause a cow to droop her jaw wide open and pitifully pant — when you touch her neck or face — and then resume a perfectly normal stance as soon as your back is turned? Some cows do react to extreme heat in that manner, panting almost dog-like to relieve stress.

But Bossy only does it when you're working with her. Is it a sympathy ploy? An attention getter? Or is it the bovine equivalent of sticking one's tongue out at someone?

And finally, one critter has adopted behavior that shows how quickly another can be trained. The local male cardinal, absent for some weeks, has taken to arriving early morning and early evening, like clockwork. He sits in the pine or the pussywillow and chirps with unbelievable persistence.

I finally figured out what he wanted one evening and deposited sunflower seed at his favorite feeding spots. Silence promptly followed. It has since become routine; he chirps, I jump.

If only the non-human critters could so easily to be trained...

Advertised Specials Increase Beef Sales

CHICAGO, IL. — About half of all beef sold in U.S. supermarkets is purchased in response to an advertised feature. When beef is featured at special prices, sales volume increases 200 to 1,000 percent compared to baseline levels.

Nationwide, a total of 6,406 retail stores participated in the program, increasing beef sales by an astounding 24 million pounds. Participating retailers profited from a net gain that totaled nearly $29 million.

"The results of the program are truly remarkable," says Matt Wineinger, BIC director of retail programs. "In just nine weeks, this initiative moved an additional 24 million pounds of beef, an accomplishment that is not easily matched. Consumers love the taste of beef and, when they can buy it at a special price, they enjoy a double bonus.

The retailer incentive program was planned to occur at a time when forecasts showed the fed cattle market would need retailer demand and support to move more product through the system. Participating retail chains were offered monetary incentives by the BIC to increase beef movement through additional advertising and price features on specific beef cuts. Estimated impact on the fed cattle market was a positive $.41/cwt during the nine weeks the program was in effect. This is equivalent to $4.68 per head on each of the 3.655 million head of fed steers and heifers sold during that time.

At present, 9,800 grocery stores in designated markets across the country have been offered the opportunity to participate in the program during another partnering period that began July 2 and will continue through August 29. It is anticipated that approximately 8,300 of these stores will move an additional 31 million pounds of beef in just eight weeks.

Beef promotion is a checkoff-funded program managed on behalf of the beef industry by the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board, a federation of 44 state beef councils that works to build demand for beef through programs of promotion, research and consumer information.

Cooking Contest Features Lamb's Diversity

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Chris Smith stirred up the winning recipe at Bedford County's annual Sheep and Wool Field Day Cooking Contest and took home a prize sheep skin.

Apricot and Spinach Stuffed Lamb brought a nod of first place approval from judges Lynn Baer, owner/chef at Jean Bonnet Restaurant; Joyce Herncane home economist and family studies instructor; and Wesley Fix, owner/chef Carriage House & Country Way Restaurants. Kathy Monsour served as chairman of the event.

Second place went to Craig B. Ashe, Breezewood, for Herb Lamb Dijon and Marietta Plank, Clearville, placed third with Stuffed Grape Leaves.

Burton Monsour of Bedford, placed first in the youth group with Syrian Meat Pies which allows him the privilege of gobbling down four McDonald meals. His chef's outfit from now on will be an American lamb apron from the American Lamb Council.

Laurie Bero placed second for Lamb Salad and Steve Bero was third with Crockpot Lamb Stew.

The recipes of the prize winning chefs are as follows:

APRICOT AND SPINACH STUFFED LAMB

Six servings
Stuffing: ½ pound bulk pork sausage
2 cups fresh breadcrumbs
1 cup ripe unpeeled apricots, pitted and chopped
½ cup butter, melted
¼ cup chopped green onions
1 tablespoon minced fresh parsley
1 egg
¼ teaspoon freshly ground white pepper
Lamb:
1 5-6 pound leg of lamb, butterflied
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon curry powder
1 teaspoon freshly ground white pepper
1 teaspoon minced garlic
½ teaspoon ground ginger
½ pound spinach, stemmed
1 cup water
mint sprigs
currant jelly

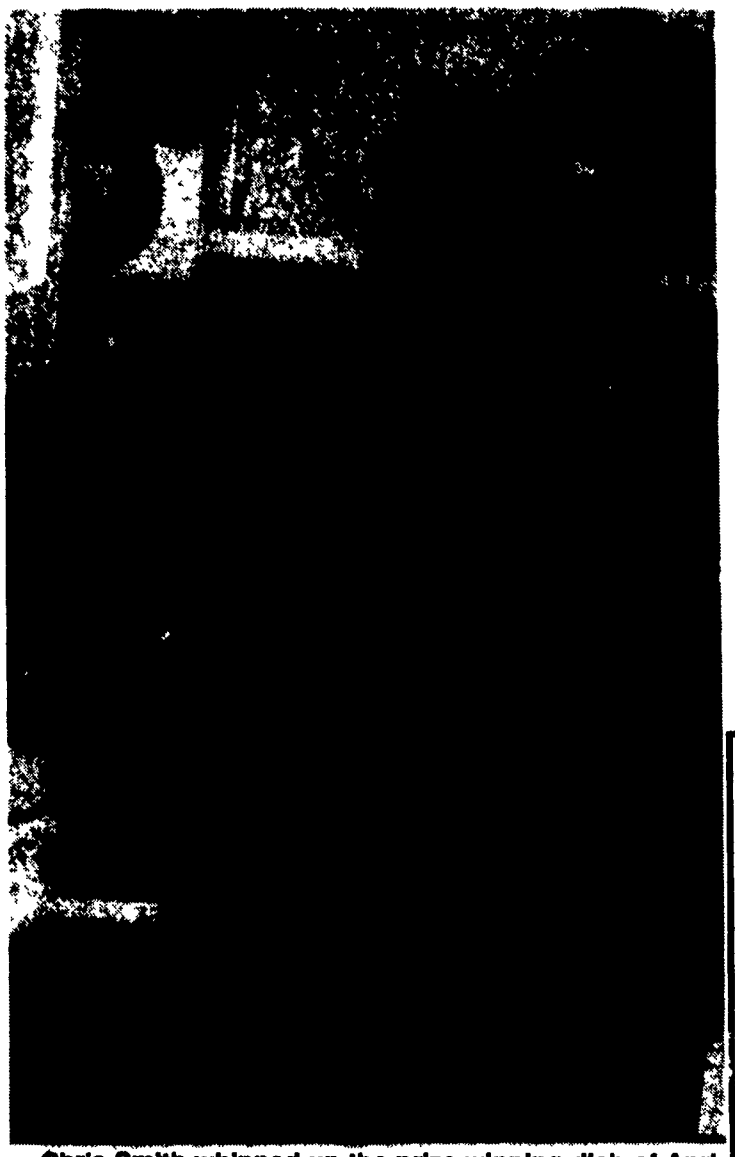
For stuffing: Fry sausage in heavy large skillet over medium heat until no pink remains, crumbling with fork. Remove using slotted spoon and drain on paper towel. Transfer to bowl. Add the remaining stuffing ingredients.

For lamb: Preheat oven to 500 F. Set lamb fat side down on work surface. Layer spinach over lamb. Combine salt, curry, pepper, garlic, and ginger. Rub over lamb. Spread with stuffing. Starting at long end, roll up as for jellyroll. Secure with string or skewers. Place on race in shallow roasting pan. Roast ten minutes. Add water to pan. Reduce oven temperature to 250 F. Cover lamb with foil and roast until meat thermometer registers 140 F., about two hours. Transfer to platter. Let stand 15 minutes. Garnish with mint. Serve with jelly.

HERB LAMB DIJON

2 pounds boneless leg of lamb
¼ cup Dijon mustard
1½ tablespoons Soy sauce
2 large garlic cloves, chopped
1 teaspoon dried rubbed sage
1 teaspoon dried oregano
1 teaspoon minced fresh ginger
2 tablespoons olive oil

Place the second through seventh ingredients in a blender. With machine running gradually add olive oil and blend for 30 seconds. Rub mustard mixture over top side of lamb. Starting at one long side, roll up lamb, jelly roll fashion. Tie with string to secure. Rub remaining mixture all over lamb. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Place lamb in a shallow roasting pan in a preheated 350 degree oven. Roast 1 hour for medium rare.



Chris Smith whipped up the prize winning dish of Apricot and Spinach stuffed lamb at the annual cooking contest of the Bedford County Sheep and Wool contest.

Canning With Less Sugar

How do you can fruits with less sugar?

Will fruit spoil if sugar is not used in the canning process?

These are a few of the questions that many of our readers ask when they want to cut down on their sugar intake.

The answers to these questions and many more are answered in today's column. Thanks to Alletta Schadler, Lebanon County Extension home economist, and Phyllis Wright, Warren County Extension home economist, who compiled this information.

If you have more questions about canning or freezing with less sugar, contact your county Penn State Extension office, which keeps up-to-date on safe preserving methods and on the many new products marketed as sugar substitutes.

Sugar performs several functions in canning and freezing. It adds sweetness, of course (and also calories), but the sugar also helps firm the texture of fruits such as peaches and pears. Colors of fruits are also brighter when the syrup or liquid contains sugar. The fruits keep color and texture for a longer period of time and are not as susceptible to fading from light exposure. Sugar is not necessary to prevent fruit from spoiling. Proper food handling and adequate processing in a boiling water bath canner will allow you to successfully preserve fruits with little or no added sugar.

You may want to reduce the sugar you use for a variety of reasons — flavor, calories or for special dietary restrictions. You can substitute water pack or diluted juice for sugar syrups when canning. You can freeze some fruits dry without any added sugar or syrup. Others may work better with a water or juice syrup substitute.

Canning Fruit

Use the hot-pack method of filling jars — that is heat the fruit in boiling juice or water or syrup before filling into jars. This will prevent shrinkage of fruit during the water bath processing, prevent floating fruit and minimize the darkening of fruit during storage.

Headspace in jars should be adjusted to ½ inch. A larger amount of headspace will increase discoloration of fruit at the top of the jar.

All foods must be processed in a boiling water bath canner or pressure canner following filling into jars. Open kettle canning is not recommended for any food.

Select ripe but firm fruit for sugarless canning. Add 500 mg. ascorbic acid to each quart of fruit canned to help reduce color change. Add it directly to each quart jar after crushing the tablet.

Note that fruits canned with water, juice or very light syrups are best stored in cool dark places to prevent color fading.

Fruit Juice Packs

Select a compatible flavor fruit juice for the canning syrup. Frozen unsweetened juices can be used. Bottled unsweetened juices can also be used. Frozen apple juice concentrate works very well. You may want to dilute the apple juice with extra water to cut the apple flavor and reduce calories further. Instead of diluting each can of concentrate with 3 cans of water, try adding 5 cans of water. Record your proportions and label jars so you will know the concentration your family prefers. Here are some flavor suggestions:

• Frozen Apple Juice- with peaches, pears, apricots, plums, red or white.

• Frozen Unsweetened Blush Grape Juice- sweet cherries.

• Frozen Pineapple Juice- with pears or peaches. This is a cloudy looking pack but is very tasty. Frozen pineapple juice has fresher flavor.

• Bottled Sweetened White Grape Juice- with pears, peaches, apricots. Dilute this bottled juice. You might want to mix it with another juice. Red grape juice might be used with plums or red cherries.

(Note to diabetics: The juice of fruit canned this way must be considered as fruit juice in your diet plan.)

Some families find fruits canned this year too bland and tart — especially if you've been accustomed to heavy sugar syrups. You could make a fruit juice/light syrup using 1 cup of sugar to 6 cups of juice or water for a trial to see if your family will accept the change. There is no point in canning a large amount of food in a way your family refuses to eat! Test flavor combinations in small quantities.

...A Word About Honey- Honey is a liquid concentrated sweetener and should be avoided by diabetics and others needing to reduce calories. It has more calories per tablespoon and it does taste sweeter than an equal amount of sugar so a little goes a long way. It can be used in canning syrups if you select a mild-flavored variety.

...Fructose is a sweet tasting sugar found naturally in fruit, juices and honey. While it tastes twice as sweet as sugar and so you need use less, it must be considered as a sugar by diabetes.

...And Artificial Sweeteners- Artificial sweeteners should be added to canned or frozen fruit just before serving. Do not use in canning syrups. The heat of processing many cause some sweeteners to lose sweetening power and others may cause an unpleasant after taste or flavor change.

See chart at the end of this paper for syrup ratios.

Freezing Fruit

The freezing process always causes changes in the texture of fruits because of the fragile cell structures and high water content of the food itself. When ice crystals form, the cell walls are damaged by sharp edges so that when the food is thawed, the juices leak out and the food is "mushy" or soft. The higher the water content, the greater the chance of texture change. For example, strawberries get mushier after freezing than cherries.

The speed of freezing and temperature of the freezer will also affect the final texture of the fruit. Faster and colder is best. Zero degrees storage is preferred.

Good moisture/vapor- proof packaging will help prevent moisture loss and color fading.

Some varieties of fruits freeze better than others because they stay firmer and keep color and flavor better. Consult your county Extension office for variety suggestions. Talk to your grower. Keep records so you know what works best.

Sugar syrups or dry sugar added to fruit will help fix the color, and firm texture, too. If you do all the other things right — select solid

Health concerns encourage many people to preserve food with less sugar. This requires new recipes and new methods.

Grilled vegetables make easy, delicious accompaniments for grilled beef. Grilling enhances the natural flavor of many vegetables while imparting a light smoky flavor.

Most vegetables need no preparation for grilling other than cleaning, and a light brushing with vegetable or olive oil.

This vegetable grilling guide is from the Pennsylvania Beef Council. Look for stories on beef representative and recipes for beef in this section of the paper.

Bell peppers: Cut peppers in half lengthwise; remove seeds. Brush lightly with oil, if desired. Grill over medium coals, turning occasionally, until tender, 12 to 15 minutes.

Corn: Pull back husks from corn leaving husks attached to base. Remove corn silk. Fold husks back around corn; tie at the end of each ear with string or strip of one of husks. Soak corn in cold water 1 to 2 hours. Remove from water. Grill over medium coals, turning frequently, until tender, about 20 to 30 minutes.

Eggplant: Cut small (about 3 to 4 ounces each) Japanese-type eggplants in half lengthwise. Brush lightly with oil. Grill over medium coals, turning occasionally, until tender, 10 to 12 minutes.

Zucchini or Yellow Squash: Cut small (about 3 to 4 ounces each) squash in half lengthwise. Brush lightly with oil. Grill over medium coals, turning occasionally, until tender, 15 to 20 minutes.

Onions: Slice onions ½ -inch thick. Brush lightly with oil. Grill over medium coals, turning occasionally, until tender, 15 to 20 minutes.

Tomatoes: Slice tomatoes ½ -¾ -inch thick. Brush lightly with oil. Grill over medium coals, turning once, until heated through, 3 to 5 minutes.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Horse Judging Team Wins States

Michelle Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Jacobs of Green Hills, won first place in the recent Pennsylvania FFA horse judging contest.

The Twin Valley team of Jacobs, Rose Samojeden, and Tracey Putt also captured first place in the team competition. The team will represent Pennsylvanis in the Eastern United States contest at Springfield, Mass. in September.

Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Farley of Honey Brook, finished 6th and Tracey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Putt of Elverson, finished 15th. Horse judging contestants took a written test on their knowledge of hoses, identified parts of a horse, identified tack items, and placed three classes of horses.

Ryan Marshall placed ninth in the state extemporaneous speaking contest and received a gold medal. Extemporaneous speakers select a topic from a hat and are then given 20 minutes to prepare a 5 to 7 minute speech. Following their speech they must answer questions from the judges.

In dairy foods competition, the Twin Valley team placed third. Individual placings were Michelle Powell, 7th - silver medal; Carla Kurtz, 8th - silver medal; Harry Moore, 10th - bronze medal; and Michelle Steve, 13th with a bronze medal.

Dairy foods contestants take a written test on milk production, processing, and marketing; solve milk marketing problems; identify and score off-flavors in milk; identify cheeses; perform California mastitis tests; identify defects in milker parts; and identify products as real or imitation.

Steve Harrop led the agricultural sales contestants, placing 8th and receiving a bronze medal. Brian McGowan placed 10th and Heather Dougherty 11th in ag sales. The Twin Valley team placed 4th. Ag sales contestants must present a sales demonstration to a customer on a product of their choice, take a written test on salesmanship, and perform a skills area - interpretation of marketing data, preparing a product display, or demonstrating telephone skills.

In aquatic resources, Tom Lakeman placed 11th and received a bronze medal. Natalie Beckwith placed 17th. Aquatic resources contestants had to identify fish, reptiles, amphibians, and aquatic plants. They took a written test on aquatics, identified tools and equipment used in aquatic resource management and also measured stream flow, performed a biotic index exercise, and mapped a watershed.

In forestry competition, Tara Plewa placed 12th, Robert Sauder 13th, Jason Hess 14th, Missy Tyson 18th, Jason Brooks 19th and Chad Steffy 30th. Teams placed 5th and 7th. Forestry contestants identified forestry trees, measured the diameter of trees and the number of logs in each tree, identified forestry tools and equipment, indicated which trees should be cut and which left on a selected plot, identified parts of a chain saw, and took a written test.

In the nursery landscape contest, Greg Lund placed 11th. Greg also took a written test, identified landscape plants, interpreted landscaping plans, identified plant disorders, and identified landscape tools.

The chapter scrapbook assembled by Michelle Powell, Sandra Calvert, and Tracey Putt placed 1nd. Ben Dodd served as the chapter delegate to the Pennsylvania FFA Summer Convention.

Members competed as part of FFA Activities Week at Penn State. Twenty-six state contests were held with more than 1,100 members from across Pennsylvania competing for the right to represent the Pennsylvania FFA in national competition in Kansas City or eastern regional competition at Springfield, Mass. Delegates transacted the official business of the state FFA, including electing new state officers and enacting a budget for the coming year.

TV FFA members traveled to Penn State with advisor Ronald Frederick, agricultural teacher at Twin Valley High School.

Use Only Tested Recipes

Are you getting ready to do some home canning this summer? Don't wait until you have those beans, tomatoes, cucumbers etc. in the house to seek up-to-date canning recommendations and safe tested recipes.

Lots of people rely on recipes that were handed down from an old family recipe or that someone gave them. Many of these recipes do not have sufficient acidity, do not recommend the heat treatment necessary, or the processing times are inadequate to assure a safe product.

Throw out the old recipes and start with ones that you know are safe, according to Kathryn J. Hostetler, Penn State Cooperative Extension Agent in Cambria County. Most cookbooks, unless they are 3 or 4 years old are not safe either.

You can purchase a canning book from one of the major canning jar companies or write to Penn State Extension and we will provide you with fact sheets that include step-by-step instructions and tested recipes. Fact sheets are on: Apples - Berries - Cherries - Jelly, Jam, Spreads - Peaches, Apricots, Nectarines - Pears - Peppers - Pickles - Sauerkraut - Snap Beans - Strawberries - Sweet Corn - Tomatoes. Send your name and address and list of fact sheets you desire to: Extension Office, PO Box 390, Ebensburg, PA 15931.

If you have any canning questions call one of the following Master Food Preservers: Ellenar or Bryan Heckman at 266-7874, Helen Kalinoski at 736-8028 or the Extension Office at 472-7986.

ANSWER — Mary Lockard, Columbia, wanted a recipe for chocolate chip cookies made with cream cheese. Thanks to Laura Wolfe, Chaptico, Md., for sending her recipe.

Chocolate Chippers

1 cup butter, softened
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 large eggs
1½ teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups all-purpose flour
1½ cups quick oats, uncooked
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup semi sweet chocolate mini-morsels
1 cup milk chocolate morsels
1½ cups chopped walnuts

Beat butter and cream cheese at medium speed until fluffy; gradually add sugars, beating well. Add eggs and vanilla, mixing well.

Combine flour and next 4 ingredients, gradually add to butter mixture, mixing well. Stir in chocolate morsels and walnuts; drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 to 14 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Yield: 8 dozen.

Thanks to Karen Pennebaker, East Petersburg, who writes that mushrooms may be purchased in bulk from Sam's Club stores, located in many areas. Thanks to Joy R. Mingle, Nottingham, who writes that BJ's Wholesale Club, located in Springfield, Del. Co., Pa. and in Newark, Del. sell freeze dried mushrooms.

Canning With Less Sugar

ripe fruit of a good variety for freezing, package properly, freeze quickly and store at zero degrees — you can freeze fruits without sugar quite successfully. There will still be softening of texture, as there is in any freezing process.

For good results when freezing fruits without sugar you will need to pay special attention to the prevention of browning and drying. Ascorbic acid and careful packaging will help.

Individual Tray Freezing

Some fruits lend themselves to dry freezing without sugar more easily than others. Strawberries, cherries and berries can simply be frozen on a tray until frozen solid, then packaged. The advantage is that you will be able to use as much or as little from the package conveniently. Consider double bagging or packaging in a plastic liner inserted in a protective box to prevent pinholes in the plastic from handling. Fruit frozen without sugar will dehydrate faster if exposed to air.

Dry Freezing In Boxes

Freeze whole or sliced or pieces of fruit in packages after tossing with ascorbic acid mixed with water. Use 750 mg ascorbic acid mixed in ¼ cup water for each quart of peaches.

Freeze Fruit In Juice

Slice peaches into orange juice in freezer container. Crumble plastic wrap or aluminum foil and put on top of fruit to keep submerged. Juice will keep peaches from browning and add extra flavor for salads. Pears must be poached in water or syrup for 2 minutes before freezing. Use 2250 mg. ascorbic acid per quart of syrup. This improves pear texture and prevents browning.

Water Freezing Of Fruits

Cover sliced fruit with water to which you've added 3000 mg. ascorbic acid per quart of peaches, strawberries.

Low-Sugar Peach-Pineapple Spread

Yield: 5-6 Cups

4 cups drained peach pulp
2 cups drained unsweetened crushed pineapple
¼ cup bottle lemon juice

This basic recipe may be made without sugar or with as little as 2 cups. It may be sweetened with some non-nutritive sweeteners. The sweetening power of aspartame in these products may be lost within 3 to 4 weeks. The basic recipe may be made with any combination of peaches, nectarines, apricots, and plums.

Procedure For Preparing Pulp: Thoroughly wash 4 to 6 pounds of firm, ripe peaches. Drain well. Peel and remove pits. Grind fruit flesh with a medium or coarse blade, or crush with a fork (do not use a blender). Place ground or crushed fruit in a 2-quart saucepan. Heat slowly to release juice, stirring constantly, until fruit is tender. Place cooked fruit in a jelly bag or strainer lined with four layers of cheesecloth. Allow juice to drip about 15 minutes. Save the juice for jelly or other uses. Measure 4 cups of drained fruit pulp for making spread.

Procedure For Preparing Spread: Combine the 4 cups of pulp, pineapple, and lemon juice in a 4-quart saucepan. Add sugar if desired and mix well. Bring to a boil and boil gently for 10 to 15 minutes, stirring enough to prevent sticking. Fill hot into clean jars, leaving ¼-inch headspace. Adjust lids and process in boiling water 15 minutes for half-pints and 20 minutes for pints.

Freezer Raspberry Jam

Yield: 2-⅔ cups

1 Tablespoon = 5 calories

1 quart cleaned raspberries
3-4 teaspoons liquid artificial sweetener
1¾ ounce packaged powdered fruit pectin
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Crush fruit in saucepan. Stir in sweetener, fruit pectin, lemon juice (and ascorbic acid for peach jam). Bring to boil and boil for one minute. Remove from heat. Continue to stir 2 minutes, pour into freezer containers, cover, freeze. Thaw before serving. Store in refrigerator after thawing.

ANSWER — Pauline Fox, Bangor, wanted a recipe for Lobster Bisque such as that served at the Nittany Lion Inn at State College. Thanks to A,A. Min, Geneva, N.Y., for sending a recipe for bisque although she isn't sure if it tastes like that served by Nittany Lion Inn.

Lobster Bisque

¼ cup water
1 pint lobster meat or imitation lobster, cut in pieces
Milk
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup heavy cream
Dash cayenne
Salt, to taste
Sherry
Parsley

Heat lobster in water but do not boil. Drain; reserve liquid. Add enough milk to liquid to make 2 cups. Melt butter, blend in flour, and add the liquid. Stir and cook until thickened. Add egg mixed with cream and seasonings. Add lobster; heat but do not boil. Serve in heated cups with a dash of sherry, put a parsley sprig on top of each serving. Makes 4 servings.

ANSWER — Estella Fink wanted a recipe for Apricot Crumb Pie. Thanks to A.A. Min, Geneva, N.Y., for sending a recipe, and to an unidentified reader who sent in a recipe and many other answers to recipe requests. Readers, please remember to print your name and address on every recipe that you submit. If you go to the work of sending in recipes, you deserve credit for it.

Apricot Crumb Pie

2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¾ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 pounds fresh apricots, halved and pitted
Juice of one-half lemon
Pastry for 9-inch pie crust, unbaked
⅓ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 tablespoons butter

Mix tapioca, sugar, and salt. Combine with apricots and lemon juice. Turn into 9-inch pie pan lined with pastry. Mix brown sugar, flour, and cinnamon; cut in butter to form crumbs. Sprinkle over apricots. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce to 375 degrees and bake 30 to 35 minutes longer or until apricots are tender. Makes 6-8 servings.

Apricot Crumb Pie

4 cups apricot
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup water

Stir together sugar and cornstarch in saucepan and gradually add water until smooth. Bring to a boil and sitr just until mixture is transparent. Gently, stir apricots into saucepan. Pour into baked pie shell.

Crumb topping:
1 cup flour
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup butter

Combine ingredients and sprinkle crumbs on top of pie. Bake in 425 degree oven for 10 minutes or until crumbs are golden brown.

ANSWER — In answer to the request for peach recipes, here is one from Susan Weaver, Richfield.

Fresh Peach Cobbler

½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon cornstarch
4 cups sliced peaches
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
½ cup milk

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Blend ½ cup sugar, cinnamon, and cornstarch in a saucepan. Stir in peaches and lemon juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Boil and stir 1 minute. Pour into ungreased 2-quart casserole. Keep fruit mixture hot in oven while preparing topping. Measure flour, baking powder, sugar, and salt into bowl. Add shortening and milk. Stir until dough forms a ball. Drop dough by 6 spoonful onto hot fruit. Bake 25-30 minutes or until biscuit topping is golden brown.

ing jelly, select those that give a flavorful juice. Juice for making jelly may be fresh, canned or frozen. The juice drained from the crushed or ground fruit used for making jams with little or no sugar may be used for making jelly.

The low- or no-sugar jellies made with gelatin should be prepared in small batches and must be kept refrigerated. DO NOT FREEZE these jellies; the gel will disintegrate when frozen. DO NOT CAN; jellies made with gelatin are not stable at room temperatures.

Try the following no-sugar jellies or substitute other flavorful juices in these recipes.

Spiced No-Sugar Apple Jelly
Yield: 3 cups
1 Tablespoon = 9 calories

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
4 cups apple juice
2 sticks cinnamon
4 whole cloves
2 drops yellow food coloring
2 drops red food coloring from 1 teaspoon to 1 tablespoon liquid low sweetener (depending on sweetness desired)

1) Soften gelatin in apple juice in medium-size saucepan. Add cinnamon sticks, cloves, and lemon juice. Bring slowly to rolling boil, stirring to dissolve gelatin. Boil 2 minutes.

2) Remove from heat. Remove spices. Stir in calorie-free sweetener and food coloring.

3) Pour into hot jelly jars. Seal. Chill and store in refrigerator. This jelly will keep well in refrigerator from 4 to 6 weeks. DO NOT FREEZE.

Strawberry Jam with Gelatin
Yield: 2 cups
1 Tablespoon = 5 calories

1½ teaspoon unflavored gelatin
1½ tablespoon cold water
3 cups strawberries, crushed
1½ tablespoon liquid sweetener
¼ teaspoon ascorbic acid powder
Red food coloring as desired

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine strawberries and sweetener in a saucepan. Place over high heat and stir constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat, add softened gelatin. Return to heat and continue to cook 1 minute. Remove from heat; blend in ascorbic acid powder and food coloring. Ladle into clean jars; seal. Store in refrigerator.

Peach Jam with Gelatin
Yield: 2 cups
1 Tablespoon = 10 calories

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups peeled, sliced peaches (about 3 medium)
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1-2 teaspoons liquid artificial sweetener

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water to soften. Place peaches in saucepan; crush using potato masher. Sprinkle with lemon juice; bring to a full boil. Add softened gelatin and liquid artificial sweetener. Blend well until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat. Pour into two ½ -pint sterilized jars; seal immediately. Do not use paraffin. Let cool; store in refrigerator.

Apple Butter Jelly
Yield: 5¼ cups

8 apples, washed, cored and chopped
2 cups unsweetened apple juice
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup cider vinegar
2 teaspoons finely ground lemon peel
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon ground anise seed
Sugar substitute equal to ½ cup sugar

Mix all ingredients, except sweetener, in sauce pan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Cook until mixture sheets from spoon. Remove from heat. Stir in sweetener. Pour into jars. Seal and store.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

We live in a dry area. The corn leaves curl in the afternoon and the lawn is brown. Despite this I'm amazed that the watermelons and cantaloupes in my garden have achieved a normal size. Where do they get the moisture? Even the cucumbers that I pick and can every other day are solid and green. Maybe it is not as dry as I think.

My row of zinnias have the colors of the rainbow. Yet when I pick some I'm always disappointed that they wilt so quickly. They seem like such a hardy flower. Guess I should just enjoy them when I pick tomatoes to can, and leave them in the garden.

Even though we have sweet corn to freeze and children coming to stay for a week with our grandchildren, Allen again persuaded me to go along on a tour of State Parks.

We towed our boat behind the truck for some 500 miles as we traveled through 10 counties. One day we fished in Walker Lake, then Bald Eagle State Park the next day. There was quite a breeze with white caps on the water that rocked our boat. We didn't put our boat in the water at Kettle Creek but just fished from the shore. The last day we were at Little Pine State Park where I caught a catfish — 17 small fish in three days.

We drove miles and miles through forests and saw four deer and lots of hunting cabins. One place we saw a large trailer and horses tied everywhere to trees. Even the beautiful peacocks that we saw along the road were something to talk about. Had they escaped from their pen?

It felt good to be home again.

Gardening With Kids

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — If you missed planting your own garden, it isn't too late to do it. You can plant your garden in containers that can be moved indoors when the weather is too cold for growing plants outdoors.

This page is full of ideas that Ginger Pryor, a summer horticultural extension agent, shared with parents recently at a Lebanon County Extension workshop. Unless you are about 12 years old, you will need an adult to help you with the experiments on this page.

According the Ginger, who taught the workshop, container gardening is a fascinating way for children to watch plants grow.

For container gardening, you need a very large container in which to plant three to six different kinds of plants.

"Choose the same plant personality," Ginger said.

She means choose plants that like the same amount of sun or shade. If you plant a flower that likes full sun with one that likes shade, one of your plants will probably die or at least appear sickly.

If all the plants like full sun, place the container in a spot where the sun shines on it almost all day. If it likes shade, place the container in a shady area or inside the house away from a window.

Try some of the experiments on this page and write and tell me what you did and what you learned by doing it. Perhaps, you could include a picture of yourself and the project. Send your letters to Kid's Korner, Lou Ann Good, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522.

Ginger Pryor, Lebanon Extension summer horticulture agent, shows how easily container gardening works when plant personalities are observed.

Beth Bensing of Lebanon is intriqued with using kitchen scraps for gardening. Here, she holds a plant grown from pineapple leaves.

Kitchen Scrap Gardening

SWEET POTATO VINE:

Set the sweet potato in a jar of water, so that only the narrow end sits in the water. Use toothpicks if necessary to support it at the mouth of the jar. Be sure to put the narrow pointed end into the water. Now roots will grow at this end.

Now set the jar in a warm dark place. Keep adding water as it is used up. The new roots will grow out first, and in about twn days you will see the stems starting. As soon as they start, move the sweet potato into a sunlit window.

In time, the entire potato will be covered with stems and leaves.

CARROTS:

Take the wilted leaves from the top of the carrot

Cut off 2 inches of the carrot at the big end.

Set it in a shallow bowl of water with pebbles or stones around it to hold it in place.

New leaves will grow out of the top.

Try this with a variety of root vegetables such as parsnips, beets, or turnips.

POTATOES:

Put the potato in a jar of water, so that only the bottom stays wet. Roots will grow out from the lower end, and new stems and leaves will grow from the eyes.

Try cutting off a small piece of potato that contains several buds and plant in soil. Plant about 3 inches deep. Water often.

ONIONS:

Set in a glass of water so that only the bottom is wet.

When the leaves come out of the top and are 3-5 inches long, cut the onion in half. It is interesting to see.

LENTILS:

Soak some lentil overnight.

Line a glass with a paper towel. Wet the paper so that it sticks to the edge of the glass, and keep about an inch of water in the bottom so that the paper will stay constantly moist.

Lay the seeds between the wet paper and the glass around the top.

In a few days, you will see roots growing down and green stems starting up.

If interested, plant lentil seeds in soil after they have been soaked in water.

ORANGES, LEMONS & GRAPEFRUIT:

Soak the seeds overnight and then plant in a pot or either sand or soil.

AVOCADOS:

Take the paper-like coat off of the seed. Then set it in a jar of water. Put the wide bottom part down.

Keep it in a dimly lit room until the roots grow and the stem starts to grow out the top. Then put it in the bright light.

After about two months, you can start adding soil to the water a little at a time.

NOTE: This is a very slow starting plant, BE PATIENT!

RADISHES:

Take a jar and line the sides with a paper towel.

Fill the jar with sand to hold the towel in place.

Recycling Kitchen Scraps

The benefits of organic matter in your soil is incomparable to any other garden secrets. It keeps soil loose and pliable, provides needed nutrients to growing plants, and improves the soil's ability to store water and allow for air flow. It is estimated that 29% of land-fill trash is comprised of recycable organic matter.

Teaching our children the importance of organic matter and at the same time the importance of recycling kitchen scraps is an important gardening lesson.

EXPERIMENT # 1

Goal: To show how common kitchen scraps rot and become beneficial organic matter.

Supplies:

2-3 cups of chopped vegetable and fruit scraps

2-3 cups of soil collected from yard or garden

1 plastic bag

Step 1: Mix together in a plastic bag vegetable scraps and soil, mist with water, blow air into bag and seal.

Step 2: Shake bag sporadically.

Stpe 3: Soil should be ready to use in 3 weeks. Scraps should be rotted and the consistency of soil.

EXPERIMENT # 2

Goal: Teach the importance of organic matter in soil.

Supplies:

4-6 Cups composted kitchen scraps and soil mixture (see experiment # 1)

4-6 Cups basic soil from yard (do not use potting soil)

6 bush bean seeds

2 pots

Step 1: Fill one pot with compost mixture and the other pot with basic soil.

Step 2: Make a 1 inch deep hole in the center of each pot and place 3 beans in each hold, cover, and keep moist.

Monitor: How many beans sprout in each pot?

Step 3: After sprouting thin to 1 plant per pot.

Monitor: How is each plant after 1 week, 2 weeks, 3 weeks, etc.?

Which plant has greener leaves?

Which plant produces flowers and how many?

Which plant produces beans? When? How large do they grow?

EXPERIMENT # 3

Goal: Show how organic matter in soil improves the soils water retention and/or drainage. If soil is clay O.M. should improve drainage. If basic soil is sand it should decrease drainage and help with water retention.

Supplies:

4-6 cups composted kitchen scraps and soil mixture (see experiment # 1)

4-6 cups basic soil from yard (do not use potting soil)

2 flower pots

2 gallon milk carton cut in ½

String or wire

2 pints of water

Step 1: Place compost/soil mixture in pot and fill to 1" from top.

Step 2: Place basic soil in a pot and fill to 1" from top.

Step 3: Punch holes in all 4 sides of milk carton and stretch wire or string across to form an X and secure.

Step 4: Set pots with soil on wire or string and pour 1 pint of water into pots.

Step 5: Note how long it takes the water to begin to drip into the cartons and how much water drips out of each pot.

Step 6: Compare the water retaining capacity of different soils by figuring the amount of water left in the soil after it finishes dripping. Do this by measuring the water in carton and subtracting measured amount from 1 pint.

Step 7: Test the capacity for drainage. After each container has stopped dripping and you have completed step 6 pour 1 pint of water into pot and notice the time it takes to move through the soil into the jar below. Compare the time it takes for a pint of water to collect beneath each jar.

Dear Readers,

I am 10 and in grade 5 when school starts again. I have five brothers and two sisters. Their names and ages are Jonas, 15; Lydia, 14; Mary, 11; Fred, 9; Joseph, 6; Moses, 5; and Crist, 3.

My parents' names are Henry V. and Barbara S. Stoltzfus. My dad's mon's name is Lydia F. Stoltzfus. My mom parent's names are Joseph F. and Sadie Beiler.

We live on a farm. We have about 500 laying hens and some broilers. We have about 14 kittens (that someone gave us) and two cats. We have two dogs named Trixy and Trouble. We have four mules and two horses. The horses' names are Bess, Mimmy, Ray, and Sam. We also take care of about 200 pigs. We also have a roadside stand. We sell canteloupes, sweet corn, sugar peas, lettuce, zucchini, string beans, cabbage, potatoes, onions, baked goods, peppers, honey, tomatoes, brown eggs, canned foods, and apples.

I go to Valley View School. We walk unless it is raining. We have almost a mile. Next term we have a new teacher. Her name is Catherine Hurst, I'm looking forward to school starting.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Society 1

The Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 1 met at the home of Lillian Hetrick for their July meeting. A doggie roast preceded the business meeting at which President Ruth Walters presided. Twelve members and one visitor were present. The hostess read a devotional entitled, "If I Could Never Talk to God".

An acknowledgment was received from the Pennsylvania State Society of Farm Women that Tammy Dawson, niece of member Marian Leberman, will receive from them a scholarship of $1000.00.

The August meeting will be held at the home of Helen Howard.

Berks Society 6

Berks County Society of Farm Women Group #6 met in the home of Joyce Mast, Oley. Ten members enjoyed an illustrated slide presentation given by Charles Houp, a member of the Oley FFA Chapter, on their trip to the Kansas FFA Convention. Several members will participate at the Scenic River Days. Several thank you notes were received. Final plans were made for the covered dish family picnic, in the Oley Legion Grove, August 8, at 12:30.

The Berks Heim Hawaiian Festival will be September 11, at 5 p.m. The August meeting will be in the home of Marian Rohrbach, Oley, R.D.#2.

York Society 11

The July meeting of York Group #11, Potosi met at the Brethren Village at Cross Keys. Alverta Lerew was hostess with her daughter, Linda Thomas helping her. A delicious luncheon was served to 13 people.

The program chairpersons were Betty Roberts and Cora Miller. Roll call was answered by telling about a seed I remember getting from someone else." The responses were interesting. Some were given years ago and seeds were saved and given again to friends.

Farm Womens Fair at the 4-H Center Invitations were given to everyone to bring jams, jellies, canned goods, baked goods, handmade items, knitted and crochet work, sewed items and hand paintings. Ribbons & prizes will be given.

A supper will be served starting at 3:00 p.m. Roast pork sandwiches, baked potatoes and a variety of side dishes will be served at a nominal fee. Dessert will be pies and cakes that were brought for judging.

The program was centered on youth with readings and games. Charlotte Dubbs won the guess box.

On August 24, Group #13 will entertain at the R.E.A. center near York, New Salem.

Arlene Miller will be the next hostess and Mary Winemiller and Mary Carman will be in charge of the program.

Pour in enough water to soak the sand.

Give it lots of sunlight.

SALAD IN A DISHPAN:

Fill a dishpan or similar container with potting soil. (Be sure container has a couple drainage holes.)

Plant any variety of salad seeds, such as lettuce, spinach, radish, peas, mustard greens, garlic, chives, etc.

When grown make a salad! Kids love to eat what they have grown.

APPLES, PEACHES OR PLUMS:

Put seeds on a moist cotton ball pad in a jar and cover with another moist cotton ball pad. Put jar into refrigerator.

Keep it moist. In about 3 months or so, you will see sprouts.

When seeds are ready to plant, put them in a large container and cover with 2-3 inches of water.

PINEAPPLE:

Cut off top of pineapple leaving about an inch of fruit. Let it sit out for a couple of days.

Using sand and a container with drainage holes, place pineapple top in sand. Cover with sand up to the green leaves.

Water often. Check for roots in a couple of months. Plant in potting soil.

Since Amy Eshelman was named beef representative, she has learned to cook a variety of beef and veal recipes, which she serves during store promotions and on her off-work hours to family and friends.

Beef Representative: If You Like It You Share It

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

CENTERVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Remember Amy Eshelman, former Pa. Lamb and Wool Queen?

Now she is touting beef.

Not that she has given up eating lamb, but as a beef representative with the Pennsylvania Beef Council, it is her job to prepare beef and veal and hand out samples to customers in stores in Philadelphia and surrounding counties.

She gets paid for that. But what she doesn't get paid to do is try out all kinds of beef and veal recipes on friends and family members.

"This job opened up a whole new way of cooking and eating for me," she said. "I marinate everything now."

She has become one of veal's most adamant promoters. "It's my favorite meat. It's very lean and really good for you," she tells everyone who will listen.

And, feeds it to everyone who will try it.

Some of her friends who were slightly biased against veal because of false claims by animal rights' groups, were reluctant to eat veal. But they listened as Amy explained the good care veal calves received and then sampled the veal.

All it took was one bite and the group devoured the veal that she had prepared on the grill.

"When you like it (veal), you can't help but tell everyone," Amy said of her love affair with veal.

Amy participated in a two-day training seminar to learn how to speak to the public about beef and veal. At the school, she learned about food safety, cooking meat, and that meat cut on a slant is easier to chew. The final requirement was cooking for her boss.

"I was really nervous, but I did o.k.," Amy said.

After that, Amy was on her own cooking for many supermarkets assigned to her territory and at future Ag Progress, tailgate, and Farm Show promotions.

Amy hands out recipes and nutritional information with the meat samples.

While some customers ignore the samples, Amy doesn't take it as a personal rejection. "Some are in a hurry and don't have the time to stop," she said.

Her purpose is not to convince customers to eat beef every ay but to fit it into their weekly meal plans. The customers who do try the meat samples usually pick up recipes and often ask her about marinades.

A marinade is a seasoned liquid used to tenderize less tender cuts of meat; it also adds some extra flavor to the meat. An acidic liquid, such as lemon juice, vinegar, lime juice or wine, soaks into the meat and softens the muscle fibers. These natural acids must be present to tenderize the meat. Most meat should be marinated for 6 to 8 hours or overnight in the refrigerator.

Throw away any used marinade. If you want to use it in a sauce or gravy, it must be heated to boiling first.

Amy tells consumers that cuts from beef chuck or the shoulder are less expensive because they are from the part of the animal that gets more exercise. The more movement the muscle gets, the less tender the meat becomes. By soaking the meat in a marinade overnight, the meat becomes more

Gelsinger Promotes Beef From Show Ring To Table

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROBESONIA (Berks Co.) — For years Tammy Gelsinger has been showing cattle in the show ring, but this summer she got a job showing what you can do with beef on the table.

"I thought becoming a beef representative was a good job for me since I raise it (beef)," Tammy said.

Tammy, her parents Dolores and Larry, and siblings, Traci and Troy, raise Simmental cattle. The Gelsinger farm is one of three owned by Tammy's grandfather Edwin Gelsinger. Tammy's father, his sister and husband, and the teen-agers from the families work together to farm 800 acres. The three adjoining farms are bordered by Blue Marsh, a flood control project, which allows the Gelsingers to farm some of the acreage. Blue Marsh regulates the crops that are grown on the land and crops are given in exchange for the use of the land. Except for the amount given to Blue Marsh, all the crops are used to feed the animals raised on the Gelsinger farms. One of the farms is a dairy farm, but beef and pigs are raised on the farm where Tammy lives.

Tammy, Traci, and Troy each own their own herd of beef Simmentals.

"It's stiff competition," Tammy said of the siblings' desire to raise the best animals possible for breeding and showing.

Their mother said, "They might fight like cats and dogs at home, and be fiercly competitive, but they are best friends at shows."

The siblings started showing and jumping with horses. Tammy still has three horses but made the switch to show cattle because it was not financially feasible to stick with showing horses.

From the beginning, the parents were supportive of their children's efforts to show animals, but Dolores said, "I told them that I do not want to listen to any complaining about judges being unfair or any other grumbling about the competition."

The children have always been responsible for buying their own supplies and for total care of the animals.

All three are competent and dependable with the animals. And successful in the show ring. Ribbons, plaques, and trophies attesting to their success fill a room of the Gelsingers' home.

The parents often sit in the stands to watch, but mom admits to getting nervous watching, especially if the kids are kicked, stepped on, and pushed around.

"It's a lot of responsibility for the children," she said.

Tammy's primary interest is not only to do well in the show ring but also to pamper her cattle because working with animals is her favorite thing to do. Tammy started her herd in 1987. She has 15 cows, eight calves that she is halter-breaking, and "steers and bulls everywhere."

Tammy believes that 4-H and FFA are the best organizations to prepare students for showing animals. Tammy works a lot with prospective students who want to get into showing animals. She often has the students help her with the duties several times and stresses the amount of work involved. She often spends five to seven hours a week preparing one steer for showing in addition to cleaning out the stalls, feeding, and turning it out to pasture.

Several times, a student from a non-farm background has wanted to own a steer to show and the Gelsingers have allowed it to be raised in their barns.

As beef representative, Tammy needs to travel to supermarkets in several counties to cook beef as part of promotions. This means that she needs to arise early to bring in the herd from the pasture to feed. Because of the hot weather, the herd is kept in the barns dur-tender.

During school months, Amy, a Penn State University sophomore who is majoring in animal science, works in the rumen-nutrition lab where she tests forages to find the nutritional value.

Amy finds that this summer job is the right job for her because her participation in 4-H has ended. She still raises 17 lambs and 18 brood ewes on her parents' farm in Gouglersville. She plans to continue showing in open classes,

Here are some of Amy's favorite recipes.

GRILLED STEAKS AND TOMATOES WITH BASIL-GARLIC BREAD

2 beef T-bone or porterhouse steaks, cut 1-inch thick
3 tablespoons olive oil teaspoon dried basil leaves
½ teaspoon garlic powder
8-ounces French bread
6 tomato slices, ¾ -inch thick
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Combine oil, basil, and garlic powder, reserve. Place beef steaks on grid over medium coals. Grill steaks 10 to 14 minutes for rare (140 degrees) to medium (160 degrees), turning once. Season with salt and pepper, if desired. Meanwhile cut bread in half lengthwise; brush 1½ tablespoons basil mixture evenly on cut side of bread. Brush remaining basil mixture on one side of each tomato slice. About five minutes before steaks are done, place bread, cut-side down, and tomatoes on grid with steaks; grill 2 to 3 minutes. Turn bread and tomatoes over; sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Continue grilling 1 to 3 minutes or until bread is golden brown and tomatoes are just heated through. Cut bread diagonally into slices. Carve steaks into thick slices. Serve with bread and tomato slices. 4 servings.

CHUCK STEAK WITH MARINADE

1 to 2 pounds boneless beef chuck shoulder steak (½ -¾ -inch thick)
Marinade Ingredients:
¼ cup soy sauce
½ cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
¼ teaspoon garlic powder

Combine soy sauce, water, lemon juice, honey, onion, and garlic powder in a shallow dish or heavy plastic bag.

Place steak in marinade and refrigerate for 6 to 8 hours before cooking; turn meat occasionally during the process so all parts of the meat are exposed to the marinade.

Broil or grill steak over medium heat for 5 to 6 minutes on each side (some pink color should remain). The remaining marinade can be brushed on during grilling.

Serves 4 to 6.

Tammy Gelsinger points to some of the many trophies she has won during her years of showing beef. She thinks her summer job as a beef representative is a natural position since she has been raising beef for many years.

Dear Betty Crocker

Q. I buy sesame seeds in 1- or 2-pound packages at an Oriental food store. Though the package says they are toasted, they don't taste toasted to me. Can I re-toast them? Can that be done in the microwave? M.W., Blackfoot, ID

A. You can retoast them, but not in the microwave. Toast sesame seeds in an ungreased skillet over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until golden, about two minutes. Or bake them on an ungreased baking sheet in a 350 degree F. oven until golden, about 10 minutes.

Q. What's the procedure for roasting a beef round roast or rump roast' P.H., Waco, TX

A. A beef round can be one of three cuts: an eye of round, a top round or bottom round, also known as the rump roast. The tenderness decreases from top to bottom. Roast any of them to medium or medium well. Roast a four to six pound roast for 25 to 28 minutes per pound to cook to medium.

Q. I made a yeast beer bread recently and the yeast didn't rise. My grandmother said it was because I added salt and sugar with the yeast. What do you think? R.A.M., Nappanee, IN

A. More likely the yeast was old or mishandled. Purchase and use yeast before the date on the back of the package or jar. Yeast action is speeded up in warm, humid conditions and slowed in cold conditions. And overheated liquid will kill the yeast.

Sugar and salt are essential to yeast bread. Sugar is food for the yeast and adds height and flavor to the bread. Salt controls yeast action, strengthens the gluten structure of the dough and adds flavor.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Personalize your pancakes by adding ½ cup fresh or frozen (thawed and well-drained) berries or chopped bananas, apples, peaches or pears. Try trail mix, granola or chopped nuts for crunch. Serve syrup, honey, jelly or jam with the finished, steaming pancakes.

Q. I bought a bread machine and bread flour to go with it. I returned the machine. Can I use the bread flour for other bakings? Mrs. B.G., Whittier, CA

A. Bread flour is distinct for its special blend of wheats that are higher in protein than those in all-purpose flour. This boosts the structure-building properties for baking producing bread with a finer, more even texture. Feel free to use bread flour in any yearst bread baking and other yeast-based products. It is also suitable for cookies and quick breads.

Q. My apricot quick bread always sags in the middle. What do you suggest? Frustrated, but determined, Midwest City, OK

A. The heaviness you describe could be from not measuring ingredients exactly. Use a liquid measuring cup for liquids and nested dry measuring cups for flour and sugar, leveling with a straight edge.

You may be underbaking the bread. Use oven thermometer to make sure the oven is holding its temperature.

Q. Lately, when I cook pork, no matter if I fry or roast it, it's tough. What do you suggest? D.H., Philadelphia, PA

A. In the past 10 years, pork is much leaner. That means that pork needs to be cooked just until done. Overcooking will leave meat tough. For chops or tenderloin slices, add a tablespoon of oil to the frying pan. For a roast, have a meat thermometer handy and cook meat to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F. and let meat stand a few minutes until it reaches 170 degrees F. Pork also can be marinated, cut in strips for marinades and cubed for soups and stews.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Cake lends itself to innovation. Pipe flavored whipped cream (found in pressurized cans in the dairy case) onto the top of an unfrosted angel food or pound cake. Then, drizzle with pureed, thawed frozen fruit and top with shaved chocolate. Fruit chutney with whipped cream tastes good, too.

Q. What does it mean when flour is bromated? C.V., St. John's, MI

A. Bromate is added to flour, especially high protein wheat, rye and whole-wheat flour, to improve volume and crumb structure. Bromate is considered a maturing agent with no bleaching action.

Q. What can I do so that caramel doesn't stick to the pan when I make caramel rolls? M.E.G., Newfoundland, PA

A. You may need to use more margarine or butter in the topping. Also, too high an oven temperature causes caramel to brown too fast and adhere to the pan. Finally, invert rolls immediately onto a tray after they are baked and keep the pan on top for a minute so the caramel runs down over them.

Q. My daughter recently used my jelly roll recipe, but her cake was rubbery. This sometimes happens in sponge cakes too. What causes this? N.S., Mallard, IA

A. A rubbery layer is due to a thin batter with too little flour or too much liquid that won't evaporate during baking. If your recipe indicates to cream sugar and butter, they need to be blended until the texture resembles whipped cream. If using a one-step cake recipe, beat for the full length of time, scraping bowl sides and bottom so batter is well blended.

For a sponge-type cake, avoid a rubbery layer by gradually adding sugar to egg yolks and beating thoroughly until they are thhick and lemon-colored.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Make a simple cake spring-fancy: arrange edible flowers such as pansies or rose petals and fresh herbs on cake top with a few cascading down the side.

Q. I received almond butter as a gift. How can I use it? S.M., Bellevue, MI

A. Almond butter is made from ground almonds, similarly to peanut butter. It's delicious as a spread for bread or toast. Or, use it interchangeably with peanut butter in recipes.

Q. I usually make yeast buns that are light and fluffy, but lately they haven't been good. Could the flour be different? B.E., Marietta, MN

A. Moisture levels in flour vary with humidity in the air. That's why most yeast bread recipes call for a range in the amount of flour. Instead of varying the liquid amount, always start with the lower amount of flour and add more as needed. If it's humid outside, you'll need more and on drier days, you'll need less to make light, fluffy buns.

Q. What can I do so that my nut breads or zucchini bread don't curl around the edge? I want them to rise evenly. G.E.M., Elkhart, IN

A. Sounds like you are overmixing the batter. That can overdevelop gluten and cause uneven rising during baking. Stir just until the dry ingredients are mixed. Baking at too high a temperature will cause quick breads to rise unevenly as well.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Make layers from an angel food cake by splitting horizontally with an electric knife or a long, serrated knife, cutting in a light, sawing motion. Use a sharp, thin knife to layer a shortening-type cake and cut with short, sawing motions.

Dairy Tidbit

When your mouth is "on fire" from hot pepper, the best way to cool it off is to drink milk. A recent finding in the Journal of the American Medical Association found that hot pepper's burning component is capsaicin, which binds to the taste buds and other receptors in the mouth. Casein, the principal protein in milk, literally wipes away the fiery compound.

ing the day and put to pasture at 7 p.m.

An adamant supporter of the Simmental breed, Tammy said the breed is tame, trusting, and easy to catch in the pasture after they are halter broke.

Last year her Simmental bull was the supreme champion at Allentown Fair and the senior bull champion at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

She prefers to sell her stock locally so that she can watch and help out the owner if they have any questions.

Since the Gelsingers also raise pigs on the farm, they are known also to compete in the swine show. But, Tammy said, "We only show pigs if dad makes us. It's not enough of a challenge to show a pig."

This 19-year-old graduate of Conrad Weiser High School received the academic agricultural award for academics and most involved student in FFA. As former FFA president, she has raised and shown sheep, pigs, and swine, but she said that nothing is better than working with beef.

Because this is the last year that Tammy is eligible to show in 4-H, she said that she is going through withdrawal. "It's heart breaking to stop showing," she said.

When summer ends, her job as a beef representative also ends. The flexibility of working as a beef representative, showing at fairs, and working part time at a restaurant, has pleased her.

"I'm not a behind-the-desk type of person," she said. "I hope to get a full-time job working with animals."

4-H Fair

Numerous events and animal shows will be featured at the Montgomery County 4-H Fair held in Creamery, Pa. on Route 113 between Routes 73 and 29, near Skippack.

The fair will be held Thursday, August 12 through Saturday, August 14. The fair is open to the public on Thursday from 5 p.m.-9:30 p.m., Friday from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. A parking donation of $3 will be asked.

On Thursday evening, the public is invited to see the pigs and chickens which were judged earlier in the day, and see the sheep show at 6:30 p.m. Also, at 7:30 p.m., the Furry Friends 4-H Rabbit and Cavy Club will hold their annual guinea pig races, open to all youth with healthy guinea pigs. A horseless horse show will also be held on Friday evening at 7 p.m. In this event the participant is a "rider" from the waist up and a "horse" from the waist down while they participate in real horse show type classes. Demonstrations will be presented before the start of the activity.

Also, for your listening enjoyment, there will be a country music DJ and line dance instructor on the schedule from 7 p.m.-10 p.m.

Other highlights of that evening include a banner parade, opening ceremonies, introduction of the outstanding 4-H boy and girl, and scholarship presentation. Indoor exhibits include crafts, foods, woodworking, clothing and a wide variety of 4-H and open class entries. The indoor exhibits are open until 9:30 p.m.

For more information and a more detailed schedule, call the 4-H office at (215) 489-4315.

4-H/FFA Swine, Sheep Show

The 10th Annual Adams County 4-H/FFA Swine and Sheep Show and Sale was held on Tuesday, July 20 at the South Mountain Fairgrounds near Arendtsville.

This event was a successful conclusion for members in 4-H and FFA, who worked hard since spring getting their animals ready for show. Overall, there were 30 participants with 30 market lambs and 61 market hogs.

4-H member Chad Funt, from Arendtsville, showed the grand champion market lamb. Mt. Dale Farm set a record of $6.30 a pound for the 102 pound lamb. The champion trophy was donated by Long Lane Farms of New Oxford. Chad was also the junior champion fitter and showman and received a trophy donated by Lady & Taylor Body Shop, Inc. The banners for champion and reserve champion were made by Pat Hawn of Gettysburg.

The reserve grand champion market lamb was also shown by Chad Funt. The 107-pound lamb was bought by Mt. Dale Farm for $2 a pound. The reserve champion trophy was donated by an anonymous donor, in honor of the 4-H/FFA Sheep Program.

Chris Gembe, 4-H member from York Springs, showed the grand champion market hog. The 234-pound hog was bought by J F Waybrant & Sons for $3 a pound. Chris also had the champion middleweight hog. The champion trophy was donated by Feeser's Hog Farm and the rotating plaque was donated by Wayne Feed Supply, Dillsburg.

The reserve champion hog and the champion lightweight hog was shown by Mandy Hilbert from Littlestown. The reserve champion hog weighed 213 pounds and was bought by Wayne Feed Supply for $2.40 a pound. The reserve champion trophy was donated by New Oxford Agway.

A cake was donated by Martin's Meats & Bakery of Gettysburg, and it was sold at the sale. It was bought by Ag Com for $25. Audrey Feeser of New Oxford decorated the cake.

In the sheep show, the Senior champion fitter and showman was Mandy Hilbert. Her lamb was bought by Wayne Feed Supply and the trophy was donated by Carl E. Frantz, Inc., Plumbing & Heating. Heidi Miller of New Oxford was selected as intermediate champion fitter and shower. William Therit Insurance bought her lamb and the trophy was donated by Apple City FFA. The senior reserve champion fitter and showman was shown by Jerry Sponseller and his lamb was bought by Clearview Animal Hospital. Virginia Todd was selected as Intermediate reserve champion fitter and showman and her lamb was bought by Joseph Sensenig Livestock Hauling. The junior reserve champion fitter and showman was Claudette Direnzo. Her lamb was bought by Earl Wilkinson.

In the hog show, Andrew Reinacker had the champion heavyweight. His hog was bought by Hatfield Quality Meats. The reserve champion heavyweight was shown by Chris Jeffcoat. It was also bought by Hatfield. Chris Jeffcoat also had the reserve champion middleweight hog and he was the junior champion fitter and showman. His hog was bought by Greenwood Products. The reserve champ lightweight hog was shown by Kim Funt. Her hog was bought by Bucher Meats. Chris Gembe was selected as the intermediate champion fitter and showman with his hog being bought by Hatfield Quality Meats. Senior champion fitter and showman was Mandy Hilbert and her hog was also bought by Hatfield.

WORK WATCH

The Work Watch Is Back!

In the mid-1980's we sold hundreds of work watches to hard-working individuals like yourself who needed an accurate, dependable timepiece. They needed a watch that would withstand the dust, moisture, bumps, and temperatures encountered on the farm, in the orchard, and in the woods. Many who bought the work watch told us it was the best watch they had ever owned. Now, due to the past success and the present need, we are again offering the work watch through Lancaster Farming.

Our work watch has all the features needed to endure the punishment you will put it through. The WATER RESISTANT seal will protect your watch when you irrigate fields, fix broken water systems, get milk splashed on your arm while feeding calves, or walk the fence in the rain, to find out where your cattle are getting out. Being SHOCK RESISTANT, your work watch will continue to work when it is slapped by a cow's tail, a falling board, or the belt shield that your arm slams against when your wrench slips off the bolt. While your watch is scraped by branches, rubbed against walls, and knocked against machinery, the low profile, SCRATCH RESISTANT, glass crystal will resist the scratches and cracks that render watches unreadable. Finally, the BATTERY POWERED QUARTZ movement of your work watch is accurate to within 2 minutes per year, and does not need to be wound, meaning that your watch will be on time, all the time, without any effort on your part.

A final proof of the strength of this watch and of its suitability to your needs is the warranty. If your work watch stops running within FIVE YEARS of the date of purchase, the manufacturer will repair or replace your watch at no charge. This is one of the longest warranties in the watch industry. The manufacturer's confidence in this watch means that you can have confidence in its durability and can know that this is the only work watch you will need to buy for the next five years.

This watch is available in both men's and women's styles. To receive your new work watch, read and complete the coupon below, and send it with your payment to:

Boots And Saddles 4-H Club Holds July Meeting

President Lori Harnish called the July Boots and Saddles meeting to order at the home of member Nathan Stoltzfus. The pledges were given by Elizabeth Heisey and Emily Hill. There were 25 members in attendance.

At the July meeting, reports were given about Demonstration Day and the county Fun Show. The club fund raiser of selling candy bars for $1 each started this month. The county roundup horse show was discussed and the qualifying scores for grooming and showmanship were given out. The first, second, and third place holders will continue on to districts.

Future events for the club include an August seventh gymkhana, and a club picnic, and the 4-H Fair. The fair, which features exhibits from all areas of 4-H, will be held August 11-13 at the Lampeter Fairgrounds.

After the business meeting, John Weaver gave a presentation on beginning obedience for horses. For more information on the Boots and Saddles 4-H Club, call (717) 569-3068.

4-H HAPPENINGS

William Asbury, Penn State vice president for student affairs and honorary chairman of the Penn State 4-H Ambassador Conference, left, and Jon Froehlich, 4-H member of Buckingham 4-H Club.

Jon Froelich, son of David and Lynn Froelich, 23 Chestnut Drive, Doylestown, recently participated in the fifth annual Penn State 4-H Ambassador Conference held at the University Park Campus.

They attended workshops on interviewing skills, public speaking, and marketing. The ambassadors will serve as spokespersons for the 120,000 4-H members of Pennsylvania.

In addition to the workshops, the conference delegates visited with a number of Penn State faculty and administrators during a reception sponsored by William Asbury, vice president for student affairs.

State 4-H ambassadors promote the 4-H youth program and the land-grant university system and are available to speak to groups about Penn State Cooperative Extension and 4-H.

The 1993 Penn State 4-H Ambassador Conference was sponsored by the College of Agricultural Sciences, the Office of the Vice President for Student Services, and Pennsylvania Friends of 4-H, which provides scholarships for county delegates attending the conference.

For more information about the program, contact Bucks County 4-H at (215) 345-3283.

Dauphin 4-H Fair To Be Held Aug. 12-14

The annual Dauphin County 4-H Fair will be held August 12-14, at the Farm Show Complex. The 4-H Fair features projects completed by 4-H members. Projects on display include handicrafts, sewing, theatre performances, rabbits, horses and a variety of other livestock and cattle. Featured on Friday evening at 6:00 p.m. is the annual benefit auction. This year there will be a special offering of 75th Anniversary of 4-H Winross Trucks. Also offered for sale will be a variety of baked goods, rabbits, lambs, and market goats.

The 4-H Fair gets underway Thursday at noon with the western classes of the Horse Show. At 6:00 p.m. is the 4-H Pet Show followed at 6:30 p.m. by the Theatre Arts Performances. Home economics and general exhibits open to the public at 7:00 p.m.

Friday at 8:00 a.m. the horse show resumes. The Rabbit Show and Swine Shows also start at 8:00 a.m. The Swine Show is followed by sheep, beef cattle, and goats. The annual auction is at 6:00 p.m., followed by a fashion show at 8:00 p.m. Saturday morning the horse show resumes at 8:00 a.m. The Dairy Show begins at 9:30 a.m. The Fair closes at 3:00 p.m.

ADC Meets Farmers' Needs

More Than $129 Million in Extra Payments

"At Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, our mission is to maximize returns to members. In the past six years, we returned more than $129 million to members in equity payments, over-order premiums and quality bonuses. That's an average of $36,600 per member. And these extra dollars are continuing at the rate of $1.7 million a month.

Robert B. McSparran
President

"When non-members ask me why they should belong to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, I am happy to report that we are financially healthy, strong in membership and growing in sales. ADC is the region's largest and most fiscally-sound cooperative, with a guaranteed market and outstanding benefits.

"More dairy farmers joined us last year than at any time in the past decade. If you are not an ADC shipper and are worried about your own milk market, then you should talk to the cooperative that is facing the future with confidence."

Outdoor Workers Risk Harm From Summer Heat

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Farmers and others who work outside during summer should protect themselves from heat and humidity, says a safety expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Warm temperatures and high humidity combined with heavy work can threaten your health," says Dr. Dennis Murphy, professor of agricultural engineering. "If you'll be working and playing outdoors this summer, pace yourself and stop periodically to cool off. Stay alert for signs of heat stress, which occurs when the body builds up more heat than it can get rid of."

Depending on its severity, heat stress can develop into heat cramps, heat exhaustion or heat stroke. Symptoms of heat cramps include muscle spasms and heavy sweating. Heat exhaustion is marked by fatigue, heavy sweating, dizziness, nausea and fainting. Heatstroke, the most serious heat-related condition, can result in coma or death. Initial symptoms include altered perspiration, shivering, nausea and confusion.

What can you do to prevent heat stress? "Drink plenty of water before and after working," says Murphy. "Don't rely on thirst to tell you when to drink, because you can lose a dangerous amount of water before you feel thirsty."

Consider your age and health when deciding what and how much you can safely do. "Take work breaks to fight fatigue and extend your energy," Murphy says. "Do the hardest jobs in the morning or late afternoon, when temperatures are cooler."

Wear loose clothing that allows air to circulate on the skin. Adequate clothing and a hat will protect you from skin damage caused by the sun's ultraviolet rays.

If you must work in a hot or poorly ventilated building, open the doors and windows to get all the ventilation possible. "Set up electric fans if you can do it safely and without raising too much dust," says Murphy. "Go outside often for fresh air."

If you feel dizzy, lightheaded, weak or overheated, or if you sweat profusely, stop working and get to a cool place immediately. "Sit or lie down, drink water or juice, and bathe your face with cool water or a wet towel," Murphy says. "If you don't feel better soon, call for help."

If your farm has employees, allow them to have a period of adjustment when they begin a new job or when the weather changes abruptly. "People differ in their ability to work in hot and humid conditions," says Murphy. "Keep that in mind, and read your firstaid manual's section on heat-related illnesses so you'll know how to treat them if they occur."

Also pay attention to humidity levels. Like the wind chill index during winter, a humidity index gives you a better idea of what it really feels like to be outside. "If the temperature is 85 degrees Fahrenheit but the air is dry, conditions are pleasant," Murphy says.

"But if the humidity rises to 60 percent, you may be more prone to heat exhaustion. At 95 degrees Fahrenheit and with humidity in the 60s, heat rises well above body temperature. This dramatically increases the risk of heat stress, especially for those who are working or playing hard."

Wolff Participates In Ag Accord

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff said that the interests of Pennsylvania farmers and consumers will be protected under the States/Provinces Agricultural Accord.

"There is a tremendous amount of movement of food animals between the United States, Canada and Mexico," Wolff said, "and the Accord will help us address our concerns and develop better methods to identify animals and their country of origin."

Wolff participated in the 1993 Accord meeting in Durham, New Hampshire recently as a member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA).

The meeting marked the seventh annual Accord meeting between agricultural leaders from the USA and Canada.

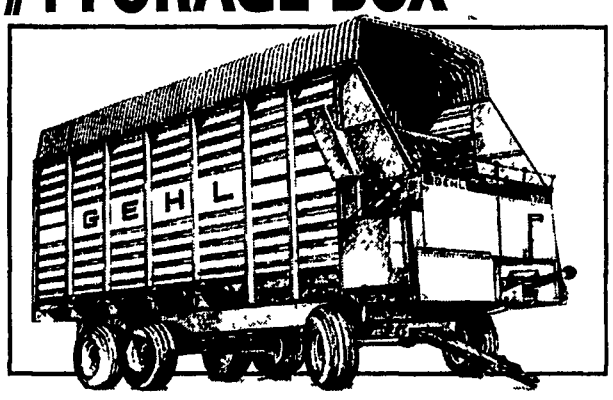
GEHL

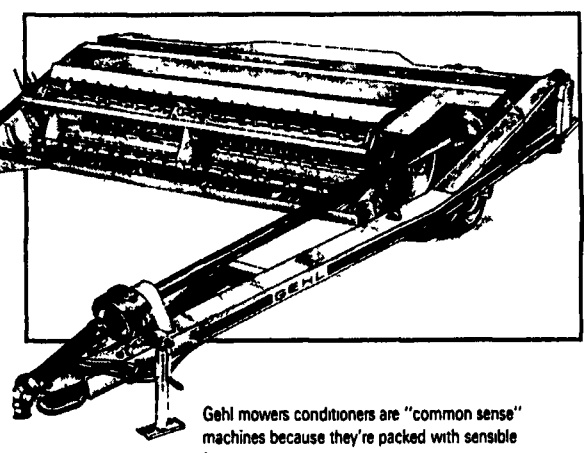
NORTH AMERICA'S #1 FORAGE BOX



Gehl makes the best-selling forage box in North America Here's why:

- Five sizes deliver the capacity to match your forage harvesting operation.
- 10-Year Warranty against rust-through on sides, endgate, stakes and roof.
- Wide 23-1/2 inch cross conveyor extends nine inches beyond the box side, for easy positioning to the blower.
- Even-Feed third beater has extended tines to break up clumps for smooth crop delivery to the cross conveyor.
- Four-speed drive system features #50 roller chain for added durability.
- Heavy-duty Gehl running gears match the capacity of Gehl forage boxes.

COMMON SENSE MOWER CONDITIONERS



Gehl mowers conditioners are "common sense" machines because they're packed with sensible features.

- Full-width intermeshing conditioning rolls with intermittent ribs deliver thorough, uniform conditioning
- Simple sickle drive with pivot-arm design provides more cutting force.
- Fewer moving parts than competitive models for worry-free performance
- Three-point flotation support protects the cutterbar from rocks and uneven terrain.
- Two models with 7-foot and 9-foot cutting widths available.

Lamb Highlights Shepherd's Night

CAROL SMITH
Mercer Co. Correspondent

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — Mercer County Sheep and Wool directors held its annual Shepherd's Night recently.

A lamb roast dinner was served with numerous lamb dishes available for sampling, prepared by Bill Wagner, chef of Clark's Tara — A Country Inn.

Consumers were told to purchase American lamb as New Zealand lamb is much tougher meat. The toughness results from New Zealand lambs being raised on hilly land, which encourages the development of leg muscles.

LAMB ROAST PLATTER

Tie leg of lamb with butchers string and generously season with black pepper and garlic powder. Bake roast in 350 degree oven for 1½ hours. Add a little water and small unpeeled potatoes, carrots, and onions. Bake until soft. Arrange on platter and garnish with mint, parsley, and tomato rosette.

Tomato rosettes are made by peeling tomato in one continuous line, starting at the top and going around the tomato. Roll up the peeling to form a rosette.

For the onion garnish, take a green onion and make several lengthwise slits on the onion tops. Place on center of potato.

LAMB CHOP PLATTER

Saute mushrooms. Place on platter and arrange grilled or pan fried lamb chops. Garnish with scallions, mint, and tomato rosettes.

SATES
INDONESIAN KABOBS

2 pounds lamb, cut crosswise into ¼ -¼ -inch strips
Marinade:
¼ cup soy sauce
¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon tumeric
1 teaspoon coriander
½ teaspoon crushed red pepper
½ teaspoon minced ginger
1 clove garlic, crushed

Combine ingredients for marinade and marinate lamb for 2 to 3 hours. Thread meat onto water soaked wooded skewers and grill 5 inches from heat for 10 minutes or until cooked. Turn frequently and baste with marinade.

GREEK MOUSSAKE

Peel and slice 3 eggplants about ¼ -inch thick. Fry and set aside.
Stir and fry together:
3 chopped onions
2 pounds ground lamb
Add the following ingredients and simmer until liquid disappears:
3 tablespoons tomato paste
¼ cup red wine
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
Cool. Then stir in
2 beaten eggs

Chef Bill Wagner talks with John and Pam Courtney during the Shepherd's Night held in Mercer.

Mix together:
1 cup parmesan cheese
1½ cups bread crumbs
3 tablespoons pine nuts
Layer meat, eggplant, and bread crumb mixture.
Make a white sauce of the following:
4 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons flour
Slowly, using a wire whisk, add:
2 cups milk
Dash nutmeg

Cook until thick and bubbly, stirring. Pour white sauce over eggplant arrangement. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake 1 hour at 375 degrees until golden brown.

40- TO 60-HP JOHN DEERE SPIRIT TRACTORS

These tractors pack a lot of value

Mowing, hauling, disking, loading, baling. You can't beat the value – or the versatility – of John Deere 5200, 5300, and 5400 Spirit Tractors.

Value starts with efficient engine design. The wet-sleeve 3-cylinder diesels deliver 40 to 60 hp with fuel-thrifty, dependable performance.

And unlike other tractors in this horsepower class, you get full rated horsepower at the standard 540-rpm PTO speed. You can pull balers and other PTO implements without worrying about your tractor bucking or stalling.

Need top traction in tough going? Add MFWD for extra pull and tight-turning maneuverability.

Spirit tractors also have the highest standard hydraulic capacity in their class...to help you lift more, faster. And for fast, smooth shifting, choose the optional top-shaft-synchronized (TSS) transmission.

Improved shuttle-shift capability makes it perfect for loader work.

Of course an important part of any value is the price. So visit your John Deere dealer and find out how little it takes for you to own a 40-hp 5200, 50-hp 5300, or 60-hp 5400 Spirit Tractor.

Debbie Wilkinson, Beau Ramsburg, and Tanya Homan are now friends "across the miles" after meeting each other during the recent Ohio/Pennsylvania 4-H Youth Exchange.

Twenty-One Adams County 4-H'ers and eight Adams County adult leaders hosted 15 4-Hers and six adults from Mercer County, Ohio, from June 26 until July 2.

The group toured various agricultural and industrial areas in the county and surrounding areas, and toured Washington, D.C. for a day. The Ohio 4-H group headed back to Mercer County early Friday morning.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Adams Co. 4-H

Twelve Adams County 4-H members competed in the Capital Region Speak-Out Night.

The contest was held at Good Hope Middle School in Camp Hill on Tuesday, July 20.

Adams County was one of eight counties to have participants competing in this contest. Members gave presentations and demonstrations, presented prepared speeches, or gave impromptu speeches, which were talks written and prepared that night.

Adams County had six presentations/demonstrations at regional night. At the senior level, Debbie Wilkinson and Heather Hawkins from the Gettysburg Horse Club presented a demonstration on horse jumps entitled "In, Out, and Over." They received gold ribbons for their demonstration.

Shawna Ford of Abbottstown Horse Club also competed in the senior division and received a white ribbon for her presentation, "Horse Teeth." Shannon Holtzinger, Kristin Hill, Anthony Hill, Zeb Eckert, and Adam Sachs all competed in the junior division of Presentations. Kristin Hill from the East Berlin Club was awarded a blue ribbon for her demonstration, "Apples - Are They A Part Of Your Diet?" and her brother Anthony Hill also was awarded a blue ribbon for his presentation "Why Recycle?"

Shannon Holtzinger of Admas County Dairy Club gave a presentation on "Animals On The Way" and was awarded a blue ribbon. Both Zeb Eckert of New Oxford Club and Adam Sachs of Fairfield Club were awarded red ribbons for their presentations, "Journalism," and "Make The Right Call — EMS."

In the public speaking division, Melissa Hawkins of the Gettysburg Horse Club was awarded a blue ribbon on her speech "Ozone." Beau Ramsburg of Barlow Mount Joy Club, Wayne Flickinger of Cashtown Club, and Rich Williams of Abbottstown Horse Club all competed in the impromptu speaking contest. Beau and Wayne received red ribbons and Rich recieved a white ribbon.

Adams County adults who volunteered as judges, roomchairs, and tabulators at regional night were Jeanne Smith, Jackie Bicehouse, Jennie Brown, Danielle Smith, Christine Todt, and Doris Wilkinson. Jayne Hess, summer 4-H program assistant, also helped out as a judge.

Day Camp

Check the box office ratings, because Day Camp '93 was a smash hit! On Thursday, July 22, Adams County 4-H'ers ages 8 to 12 enjoyed a day of tie-dying, linedancing, puppet-making, and many other activities at the 1993 4-H Day Camp held at the South Mountain Fairgrounds near Arendtsville.

Seventy-five 4-H'ers and 18 4-H teen leaders attended Day Camp. The 4-H teens planned, organized, and led all the day's activities with the assistance of extension 4-H staff and volunteer adult leaders.

The theme of this year's Day Camp was "Disney Classics." When the 4-H'ers first registered in the morning, they were divided into five groups: The Little Mermaid, The Rescuers Down Under, The Great Mouse Detective, Aladdin, and Beauty & The Beast. Each group was supervised by two teen leaders, who watched over them throughout the day camp program. These teens took the kids to the five workshops: line dancing, life skills, recreation, and crafts. In the line dancing workshop, kids learned how to dance "The Sugar, Sugar" and "The Little Black Book." 4-H'ers also got to tie-dye shirts and caps in the crafts workshop.

Other workshops included activities such as water balloon throwing, puppet creating, and decision making. Each workshop was led by two 4-H teens with some assistance from adult leaders.

After the workshops, the five groups competed in Day Camp Olympics. In the Olympics, kids participated in water balloon volleyball, obstacle course, egg toss, mummy wrap, and other games.

After a dinner provided by the Gettysburg Horse Club, 4-H'ers showed their allegiance to their group at the evening program, which was called "The Disney Classic Festival." Each group presented two or mascots, a skit, a commercial, a banner, and a gift. The Classic Council judged the different categories and chose a winner. Two 4-H teen Senate officers, Debbie Wilkinson and Sadie Bucher, dressed as Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse and served on "The Classic Council." The "Beauty & The Beast" group triumphed as the overall winning Day Camp group. The day's activities came to a close during the candlelighting ceremony at the end of the evening program. Other activities throughout the day were a visit from Dairy Ambassador Joy Hess and a preview of video cartoons.

Teen group leaders at Day Camp were Angie Giardullo, Matt Linebaugh, Kristin Johnston, Rich Williams, Laura Cunningham, Joy Hess, Marci James, Mike Linebaugh, Julie Zepp, and Dan Ludwig. Teen leaders in charge of workshops were Kim Funt, Sadie Bucher, Jessica Dayhoff, Vickie O'Shea, Emily Miller, Beth Green, Debbie Wilkinson, and Laura Mayer. Volunteer 4-H leaders Jackie and Karen King assisted with the linedancing workshop, while Summer 4-H Program Assistant Jayne Hess assisted with the lifeskills workshop. Volunteer leaders Karen Holtzinger and Diann James, as well as Extension Program Assistant Darlene Resh, oversaw the day's activities and prevented chaos from occurring during the day. Linda Carey, EMT, volunteered as the resident nurse for the day's event.

Wye Field Day August 19

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — The Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station's (MAES) Wye Research and Education Center will hold the 25th annual Wye Field Day on August 19 to showcase Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station (MAES) research and Cooperative Extension Service activities dealing with Maryland's agricultural base, natural resources and environment.

The field day features three concurrent tours running from 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.: field crops and soils, horticulture, and animal sciences.

Stops along the Field Crops and Soil Tour are residue management in tillage systems, controlling phosphorus runoff from cropland, cultural practices of controlling slugs in no-till systems, and new corn and soybean varieties.

Stops along the horticulture tour include use of compost in field production of vegetables, sweet corn variety evaluation, bramble breeding programs, and steak tomato IPM and cultural research.

Stops on the Animal Sciences Tour include Wye Angus carcass data analysis and report, fly control around livestock buildings, year-round grazing program in practice, using ammonia to preserve silage, and tips for hay preservation.

For the first time, this year's field day features a water quality walking tour beginning at 8:30 a.m. Tour topics include using fish communities to evaluate environmental degradation in Maryland Coastal Plain streams, treating contaminated groundwater, and reducing toxicity of wastewater discharged into the Chesapeake Bay.

From 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., three half-hour clinics — Cut Flowers as an Alternative Income Source; Potato Virus: A New Threat to Maryland Produce; and Organic Agricultural Certification — will be offered in the Arthur A. Houghton Jr. Laboratory.

Seminars and workshops are held from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. Half-hour seminars include Maryland Aquaculture, Agricultural Marketing Update and Biotechnology: An Overview and Risk Assessment.

Tours of the research greenhouse and an IPM orchard, as well as a hands-on nutrient management workshop, will occur at 1:30 p.m.

Following the theme, "The World's Safest Food Supply," the 1993 Home Economics Program will include a workshop about the safety of irradiated and pesticide-treated foods, poultry, eggs, seafood, grains and dairy products from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The field day also will include all-day equipment and poster displays, a buffet luncheon from noon to 1:30 p.m., and an all-you-can eat crab feast from 3:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Meal tickets can be purchased at the registration desk.

From more information, call the Wye Research and Education Center at (410) 827-6202 or contact your local cooperative extension service office.

District Offers Scholarships

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.) — The Dauphin County Conservation District is providing two $500 scholarships for college students with a major in agriculture or environmental-related study.

Applicants must be a resident of Dauphin County; attend a college or university in the United States; major in Agriculture, Environmental Resource Management or the conservation field; and, at a minimum, be a sophomore semester student.

Applications must be submitted and postmarked by September 1. They must include a statement of scholarship need, a resume, statement of purpose outlining student goals, college transcript or a copy of their most recent grade slip, a recommendation from school personnel, and a character reference recommendation.

Funding for these scholarships was made possible from profits of the conservation district's 1993 Consignment Auction, which is an annual auction held the first Saturday of April at the Gratz Fairgrounds.

Interested students may receive a copy of the application from the Dauphin County Conservation District at the Agriculture and Natural Resources Center, 1451 Peters Mountain Road, Dauphin 17018, (717) 921-8100.

The Stihl 025 More powerful than the 023 plus convenient side chain tensioner $314.95
The Stihl 026 Designed for professional use or the demanding weekend woodcutter $379.95

If you know a little about the timber business, you know that Stihl chain saws have been used by professional woodcutters for over sixty years.

So maybe you think Stihl equipment is "too good" for a suburbanite or farmer or anyone else who needs to cut wood on an occasional basis.

Well, we're happy to tell you that Stihl makes a whole series of chain saws with your needs in mind.

But don't confuse them with discount-store chain saws.

All Stihl saws are designed for performance, ease of handling and starting, and durability.

Now, about the 026 shown at the bottom we'll admit we sell this saw to professional woodcutters. But it's also bought by people who simply put a lot of hours on a saw every year.

And by the way, when were you ever unhappy because you bought a product that was too good?

For The Part Of You That Promised You'd Never Compromise.

Controls compaction, rough fields, soil erosion & residue management problems.

Adjustable front disc gangs cut the residue. Auto-reset shanks penetrate the soil 8 to 20" to break up compaction. The rear discs break clods, incorporate residue and level fields. To leave more surface residue and control erosion, raise the gang. Easy manual or hydraulic adjustments change disc cutting depth.

Now there's one way to manage surface residue and compaction problems . . . stop in and we'll talk.

Producers Can Learn To Handle Animals More Efficiently

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Animal product consumers are increasingly concerned about factors related to food such as cost, safety, wholesomeness, use of resources for production and processing, and effects of production on the environment. Recent concern has focused on how animals are handled, both on the farm and during marketing and transportation, according to Lowell L. Wilson, professor of animal science in Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science.

One complicating factor is that today's consumers are further removed from animal production and have less knowledge of farming systems than ever before. Although recent surveys indicate that the public believes most farmers treat animals humanely, areas of concern have been identified and improvements must be continually studied and put in to practice. At a recent livestock meeting, Wilson told producers that is up to the agricultural community to provide information to the public about food production systems.

Wilson adressed concerns of animal activist groups as to how animals are being handled when they leave the farm and entering transportation and marketing channels. He said that owners and managers of trucking companies, auctions, and packing plants must be aware of how their employees handle animals. They may want to consider implementing employee training sessions and providing more direct supervision. Although most handlers at auctions and packing plants are experienced with moving animals, they must take care to minimize stress on animals during the handling process. For instance, too much individual space in a truck can actually cause more harm to the animals than loading according to recommended guidelines for animal density.

At the farm level, Wilson emphasized that housing and handling facilities must be designed and maintained for the comfort and safety of both animal and handler.

Increased emphasis on health and quality status of young dairy calves is also important. Dairy farmers should be certain that all calves receive colostrum and remain on the dairy farm for four to ten days after birth. Another concern is the method of transporting the calf from farm to auction, and then from auction to dairy-beef or veal farm. Public perceptions and concerns are especially important in the handling of young animals.

One area of particular concern is the humane treatment of "non-ambulatory" animals on the farm and in marketing facilities. Some of these animals are only temporarily affected, due perhaps to a sprained leg or difficulty in calving. Wilson believes that early identification of problem animals that fail to respond after special care and feeding is important. "An animal still in a marketable, sound condition would yield the farmer more dollars if sold before they become too thin and at higher risk. It's the thinner, weaker animals that can become non-ambulatory when transported or marketed," he said.

Lowell L. Wilson, right, professor of animal science in Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science, and Richard F. Todd, assistant beef and forage herd manager at the University's Haller Farm, demonstrate some of the latest tools designed for handling livestock humanely and efficiently.

Although the incidence of non-ambulatory animals is very low — less than one in 10,000 — it is very difficult to humanely move these animals. Many activists and farmers recommend euthanatizing animals that do not recover within a reasonable period (24 hours).

Recently, "no-downer" policies have been established at almost all auctions and buying stations in Pennsylvania and across the country. Although auctions do not allow non-ambulatory or weakened animals to be unlaoded, some of these animals may still be acceptable for the food supply. For example, an animal that breaks a leg may still be marketed so long as no treatment has been given that might jeopardize the safety, wholesomeness, or quality of the meat.

No-downer legislation has been proposed at state and national levels and is favored by almost every segment of agriculture. Most of this legislation requires euthanatization of non-ambulatory animals. In some cases, animals in good condition may be shipped directly to a packing plant, where they are subjected to even higher food wholesomeness and inspection standards than those routinely used. However, interpretation of the legislation is very important and should be done by those with expertise in animal care, handling, and movement and food safety.

Wilson concluded that these areas of concern must be addressed by all segments — farmers, marketers, truckers, processors — and that the animal's welfare must be kept foremost in mind.

Farm Safety Warning Signs Available

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — New warning signs designed to promote safety on farms and other agricultural operations are now available.

The five signs alert farm workers to potential hazards of manure storages, fires in oxygen-limiting silos, pesticide storage areas and pesticide-treated fields or facilities, says Dr. Dennis Murphy, professor of agricultural engineering.

One new sign is designed to be placed at each entrance to below-ground or covered manure storages. "This sign has a simple graphic depicting a person being overcome by deadly manure gases," Murphy said. "You get the point even before you read the words, which warn you to enter the pit only with a self-contained air supply, ventilation, rescue harness and someone standing by with a mechanical lifting device."

Another sign points out the drowning hazards of uncovered manure storages and ponds. The graphic shows a figure falling through the crusted surface of a manure pond.

Farmers with sealed or oxygen-limiting silos can buy signs indicating the explosion hazards using water to fight fires in these structures. One sign is meant to be placed at ground level near the silo blower pipe ladder, while a second should be placed next to the silo unloader.

"The two remaining signs address pesticide safety concerns," said Murphy. "One is designed to be posted at each entrance to a facility or field where pesticides with re-entry restrictions have recently been applied. Because this sign will be used at fields and facilities such as mushroom houses, which employ many Hispanic workers, its warnings are in both English and Spanish."

The final sign, to be placed at each entrance to pesticide storage facilities, warns people that they are entering a pesticide storage area and that fire in such a facility will produce toxic fumes.

Each 10-by-14-inch warning sign is made of .040 gauge aluminum with a reflective surface designed to resist fading for up to seven years. Each costs $5, or $4.75 in quantities of 100 or more, plus shipping charges.

To order signs, or to get more information, contact D.W. Miller Industries, Inc., R.D. 1, Box 7B, Huntingdon, PA 16652. Pennsylvania residents can call (800) 222-1980; others can call (800) 331-3812.

Farm Credit Promotes Moore

YORK (York Co.) — York Farm Credit, ACA has recently announced the promotion of Ronald Moore as an account executive. Ron will be headquartered at the Carlisle branch and will be responsible for new business development in central Pennsylvania.

Ron began his agricultural lending career in 1980 as a field representative and has since held the positions of branch manager, senior loan officer, and, most recently prior to his promotion, executive loan officer.

A native of western New York, Ron grew up on a dairy farm and received a bachelor's in agricultural economics from North Dakota State University.

Hoover Bull Goes To ABS

DeFOREST, Wis. — American Breeders Service has chosen 29 H7561 C&M-R-Run CHARCOAL-ET to enter their progeny test (PT) program. This young Holstein bull was bred by Michael Hoover of Tyrone, Pennsylvania.

29 H7561 CHARCOAL is a singing-Brook N-B Mascot-ET son from C&M-Rippling-Run BS Char-ET, a high protein Blackstar daughter. CHARCOAL's dam is backed by an Excellent-92 Enchantment daughter with two records over 1200F, and backed by a Bell daughter. CHARCOAL combines two sires over +1145 TPI with the Excellent mammary grandam. Producers can expect CHARCOAL to sire average sized cattle with superior udders and good width, depth, and dairy form.

CHARCOAL joins the many young dairy bulls being tested this year through the ABS Progeny Test Program. His semen will be distributed within contracted PT herds across the U.S. After a four-year wait, CHARCOAL's progeny will be evaluated and a decision made as to whether or not he qualifies to join the elite lineup of ABS proven sires.

Producers interested in semen from CHARCOAL or any other ABS young sire should contact their local ABS representative.

Nutri-Kal Forage Mixture Has Planting Option

HALL, N.Y. — Seedway, Inc. recently completed three years of comprehensive field trial evaluations of Nutri-Kal, a fall planted triticale and hairy vetch mixture for forage production.

Nutri-Kal will be added to the company's 1993-1994 seed planting guide, having achieved three successful years of performance in small plot and farm trials in Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New York.

Plant height at forage harvest stage has averaged 40 inches in three years of New York small plot trials in central/western part of the state. Winter survival has been 100 percent, with plantings established by early October. Later planting dates have not been evaluated.

Nutri-Kal is similar to earlier mixtures developed by the company such as Pea-Kal, a field pea-triticale mixture, and Double SS, a soybean-forage sorghum mixture. All contain a legume in conjunction with an improved forage triticale or forage sorghum. Nutri-Kal offers another planting harvest option since it is fall planted and harvested in early spring while Pea-Kal & Double SS are established in spring for Pea-Kal and early summer for Double SS. Nutri-Kal will fit into other rotational sequences permitting intensive cropping or double cropping in many areas. Ideal planting times for Nutri-Kal are mid August to mid September with harvest coming about the time of the first alfalfa cutting for the area.

Nutri-Kal benefits include high forage quality, soil nitrogen contribution to following crops needs, erosion control, drouth free, and modest input costs.

Pre-mixed Nutri-Kal seed will be available in early August in time for August/September 1993 planting.

A factsheet is available by contacting Seedway, Inc. at (800) 836-3720 in York or (800) 836-3710 in Hall, N.Y.

J-Star Honors Dealers

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Bob Francis, Randy Gayman and John Swope of Sollenberger Silos Corporation, Chambersburg, accept their Gold MVP Award, Top Sales Leader Awards - J-Star Genuine Parts and Jamesway Equipment from John Neill, president, J-Star Industries.

The elite MVP Award (Major Volume Performer) recognizes the company's top dealers who have achieved gold, silver, or bronze levels of sales and performance objectives during 1992.

The Top Sales Leaders Award recognizes the Top Sales Leaders for J-Star's main product lines.

The presentation took place at J-Star's regional dealer meeting held in Carlisle.

The meeting gave North American dealers an opportunity to hear about new products, innovations, and programs which J-Star Industries will be featuring for the balance of 1993.

ABS Plans To Purchase Genmark Technologies

DEFOREST, Wis. — ABS announces the potential technology purchase pending final negotiations with Genmark, Inc. of Salt Lake City, Utah.

"At the present time, we are awaiting the signing of a final contract to be drafted and signed," said ABS President Jack Shelton, indicating an official "letter of intent" has been signed by both Genmark and ABS for the purchase of the Genmark genetic marker technologies and patents. "This simply means that both parties are willing to negotiate details with the end commitment of a mutual agreement."

Gene marking, the ability to identify which of the parent's genes the calf has inherited, could allow the A.I. industry to accurately identify genetically superior individuals in a population before their actual production data is available. Some genes influencing protein yield, protein percentage, and milk yield have already been identified. "In the near future, we expect to have the ability to identify many more genes that specifically affect production as well as many traits that effect type traits of cattle, such as teat placement," said Dr. Paul Miller, vice president of product development of ABS.

"When looking at well-proven bulls, gene markers offer few benefits," said Miller. "The genetics these bulls offer is already identified through the performance of their offspring, the most reliable genetic summary."

While markers have limited benefits to identifying elite genes in well-proven bulls, with the selection of young sires, opportunities abound. Genetic markers will allow ABS and the industry to more accurately select young sires for superiority in desirable traits in both production and conformation. The net result of this will be an increase in the quality of young bulls for the ABS Progeny Test program, as well as earlier identification of those young bulls that will move the next generation ahead.

The pending ABS purchase of the remaining assets of Genmark entails the four following elements: 1. The Genmark battery of genetic markers (patented); 2. All research information relating to the markers; 3. A small amount of computer software and other physical assets used in the research; and 4. The transfer of all Genmark technology.

The Genmark DNA commercial testing service operations, which includes laboratory testing for the genes influencing milk proteins, BLAD and Weaver conditions, and DNA parental verification has previously been sold to another private testing lab.

The purchase of this technology is in line with the ABS objectives to research and develop technologies that directly relate to our customers' needs or that will have a direct benefit to ABS by making genetic advancements faster, more reliable, and with less cost incurred.

While only a letter of intent has been signed at this point, and the final deal is still pending, Shelton said, "We do not have any reason to believe the deal will fall through and W.R. Grace is in full support of this acquisition for ABS."

Pen-Col Bull To ABS

DeFOREST, Wis. — American Breeders Service has chosen 29 H7548 Pen-Col SPECIAL Victory-ET to enter their progeny test (PT) program. This young Holstein bull was bred by Pen-Col Farms and acquired from the Triple Crown Syndicate, both of Millville, Pennsylvania.

29 H7548 SPECIAL is a Curtmaid Emerald Target son from Pen-Col Southwind Dimond-ET, a hard-working young SOUTHWIND daughter. SPECIAL's dam is backed by a Very Good Rotate daughter with a 3.3 percent protein production and from the great Wayne Deena cow family. Combining the international protein favorites of Target and SOUTHWIND makes SPECIAL a very promising young sire for both the U.S. and global markets. Producers can expect SPECIAL to sire taller cattle with good udder quality and high protein components.

SPECIAL joins the many young dairy bulls being tested this year through the ABS Progeny Test Program. His semen will be distributed within contracted PT herds across the U.S. After a four-year wait, SPECIAL's progeny will be evaluated and a decision made as to whether or not he qualified to join the elite lineup of ABS proven sires.

Producers interested in semen from SPECIAL or any other ABS young sire should contact their locl ABS representative.

Twilight Meetings Set

SUNBURY (Northumberland Co.) — The Northumberland County Conservation District will sponsor two twilight meetings dealing with current agricultural issues. The first meeting is set for Thursday, August 12 from 7-9 p.m. at Himmel's Church, approximately 1/2 mile east of Rebuck.

A tour of Meckley's pesticide containment facility will start at 6 p.m. at Meckley's Farm Supply Store on Rt. 225, Mandata. Signs will be posted to the meeting from Rt. 225.

The second meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, August 24 from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. at the Turbot Township building just east of the Rt. 147 and Rt. 254 junction.

Both meetings have been approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture as an update training session for pesticide certification renewal for private applicators. Private applicators will receive two credits (one core and one category) toward certification renewal. Bring your applicator's license.

The programs will begin with a presentation on the Tillage Field Day conducted by SCS and the conservation district this summer. Carl Rohr of the Bureau of Land and Water Conservation will discuss the new Nutrient Management Legislation and a representative from Helena Chemical Co. of Mifflinville will cover weed and insect control. A presentation on General Permits for waterways will be explained by conservation district staff and Bob Taylor of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will conduct a session on pesticide safety.

Refreshments and door prizes will be provided by the Northumberland County Conservation District. For more information on the meetings, contact the conservation district office at (717) 988-4224.

Stoltzfus Bull To ABS

DeFOREST, Wis. — American Breeders Service has chosen 29 H7564 Caernarvon JERyl-ET to enter their progeny test (PT) program. This young Holstein bull was bred by Andrew Stoltzfus of Morgantown, Pennsylvania.

29 H7564 JER is a Singing-Brook N-B Mascot-ET son from Caernarvon Cleitus Juliet-ET, a Very Good Cleitus daughter with a two-year-old record over 25,000M. JER's dam is backed by a Very Good-89 Chief Mark daughter that produced over 32,000M as a two-year-old from an Excellent mammary. Combining Mascot with this outstanding production family makes JER a likely prospect for siring average sized cattle with superior udders, extreme production, and improved components.

JER joins the many young dairy bulls being tested this year through the ABS Progeny Test Program. His semen will be distributed within contracted PT herds across the U.S.

HIGH TENSILE FENCE...THE FARMER'S BEST INVESTMENT

The Beaver Fence Systems are tops! We installed 1 mile of their fence on our farm on Feb. 3, 1993, full size post, 3-1/2 feet deep, excellent braces. We used 5 strand (2 elec.) high tensil, all in place in just 8-1/2 hours! The fence is as straight as an arrow-excellent equipment-very efficient work!

"I am a hard man to convince, but after I saw how Beaver built the fence, I'm ready to put my digging iron away," says David W. Brubaker of Honey Grove Acres, RD1, Box 629 Honey Grove, PA 17035

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

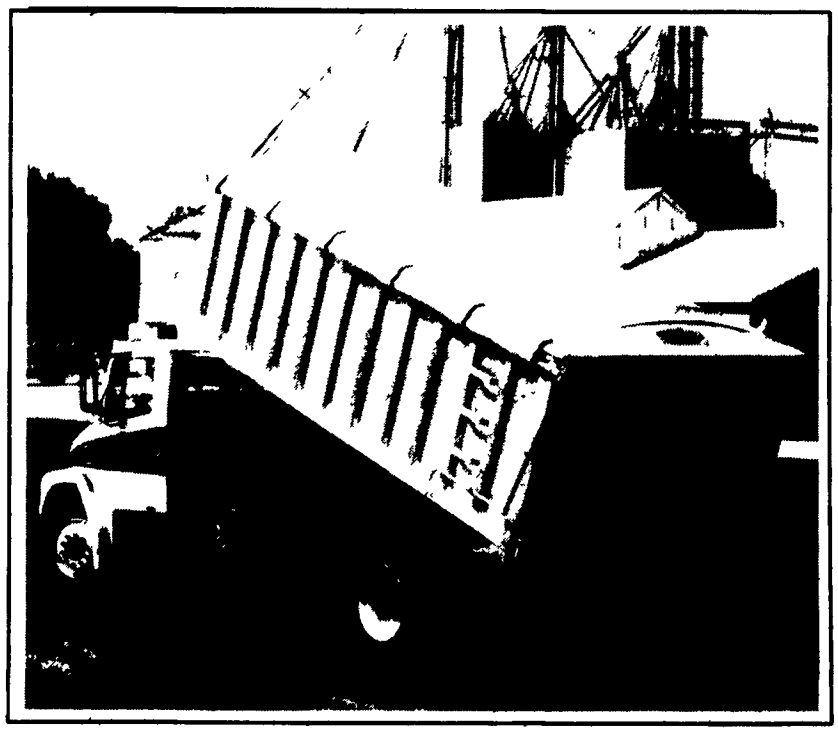
In grain bodies, aluminum makes Sense.



Eby Aluminum Agri-Dump Bodies pay off in dependable long-term service. Their all-aluminum construction means:

- Greater payload efficiency
- Maintenance-free service
- Substantially higher resale value.

Eby's time-tested design is available in lengths to 24' for grain bodies and 10½ ' for general purpose dump bodies. A long list of standard features such as tarp rail, built-in steps, aerodynamic uprights and Harsh hoist is complemented by a full range of custom options, including tailgates, Wahpeton tarps and grain chutes.
When you select your next grain body or general purpose dump body, consider the value that aluminum offers. It's a worry-free investment in your future.

CHECK OUT THESE FEATURES/BENEFITS

- Up to 40% lighter than steel, for greater payload
- Designed for long life
- Resale value
- Corrosion resistant, never needs painting
- Appearance to complement any truck
- Complete list of popular options, including tailgates, tarps and sides.

Master Mix®

Quality silage is one component of your feeding program that you can't afford to ignore. While it can reduce the amount of purchased protein and grain used to supplement a ration, silage also provides livestock with the most nutrients per acre of any feedstuff choice. However, nature and other uncontrollable factors can frequently cause spoilage bacteria in silage to take control. As a result, nutrients are lost through gas production, heating and protein degradation.

Master Mix® SILO-BOOSTER® Silage Inoculants prevent this kind of damage by providing a combination of superior lactic acid producing bacteria which work together to protect high-quality forage. So, if you want the benefits and potential profits that quality silage can provide, incorporate the use of SILO-BOOSTER into your silage management program.

Walker Exhibits York 4-H Dairy Supreme Champ

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Brad Walker took home his first 4-H Dairy Supreme Champion title last week, after winning the Holstein show with his senior three-year-old entry. The July 29 county roundup was held at the York Fairgrounds.

The 16-year-old New Freedom member topped the 4-H show of nearly 100 entries with Warns Sexy Lady, scored VG-85 and projected in her second lactation to 22,630 pounds milk, 813 fat and 643 protein.

In selecting the Supreme winner, judge Cam Davis, Union Bridge, Maryland, praised Lady as the most dairy of the contending breed champions, with the best fore udder and with wide rear udder attachments.

Other breed champions contending for the Supreme honor were Jason Stambaugh, Spring Grove, in the Ayrshire division, Joshua Hushon, Delta, Brown Swiss; Kelly Morris, Fawn Grove, Guernsey; William Jenkins, Fawn Grove, Jersey; and Heather Crowl, Airville, Milking Shorthorn.

Placing in the reserve spot to the Supreme winner in the Holstein champion runoffs was Steven Gemmill, Delta, exhibiting his senior two-year-old Woodbine-K Mark Mavis. Junior champion honors went to Dixie Doll, Glen Rock, with her fall yearling and Chad Trimmer, East Berlin, earned the reserve junior champion spot with the second-placed fall yearling. Best bred and owned honors went to Shannon Doll's senior two-year-old.

Brothers Jesse and Jason Stambaugh, Spring Grove, shared Ayrshire breed honors. Jesse took grand champion and best bred and owned with his senior two-year-old Triple-J Gemini Andy, and snagged the reserve champion placing with his five-year-old. Jason earned the junior champion with a yearling, placing over his brother's reserve junior, a winter calf.

With no milking animals in competition, grand champion honors in the Jersey breed went to the junior winners. Named best bred and owned as well as junior and grand champion was FHF Roses Ruby, the summer yearling entry of William Jenkins, Fawn Grove. Reserve junior and grand rosettes went to Annie Rauhauser, Dover, for her winter yearling.

Milking Shorthorn exhibitor Heather Crowl, Airville, claimed the grand and junior honors with her heifer entries. Grand and junior championship went to her winter calf, topping the reserve placing winter yearling.

Seven top winners were selected in four age groups of showmanship competition, judged by Anne Davis, Union Bridge, Maryland. Cloverbud age group winner was rookie 4-H exhibitor Michael Greek, Delta. Junior age division honors were shared by Rebecca Kilgore, Airville, named the champion, and reserve champion Angie Beshore, New Cumberland.

In the intermediate age division, Daphne Doll, Glen Rock, took the champion title, over reserve winner Amy Trimmer, East Berlin. Brad Walker, New Freedom, topped the senior age division of showmanship, besting reserve winner Dixie Doll, Glen Rock.

Comprehensive tests on the retraction speed regularity of irrigation machines were carried out by the French Chamber of Agriculture.

In field tests on farms, irrigation machines of 19 different manufacturers were tested. The BEST results were reached by BAUER Rainstars with Ti Turbine Drive.

100% of the tests showed optimum retraction speed regularity with only 6 psi loss. Uniformity along the irrigation strip is directly dependent on retraction speed regularity. The results of variations found in other makes will mean considerable losses in terms of yields, water and energy consumption.

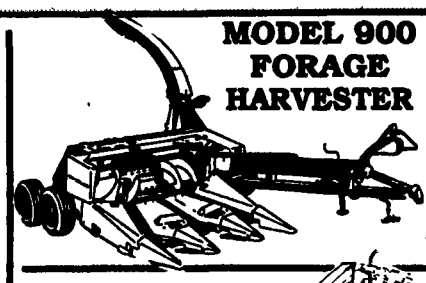
NEW! Exclusive design produces best-ever bales

The unique New Holland Models 650 and 660 Roll-Belt™ round balers make the best quality bales ever. Tight bales—dense bales. Good-looking, square-shouldered bales that hold up to the weather. The patented Roll-Belt design means fast, sure core formation, even in the toughest crops. The adjustable hydraulic belt-tensioning system puts maximum bale density control at your fingertips. And, you can choose from three optional automatic tying mechanisms for the smoothest package ever.



MODEL 900 FORAGE HARVESTER

TAKE CONTROL OF YOUR HARVEST

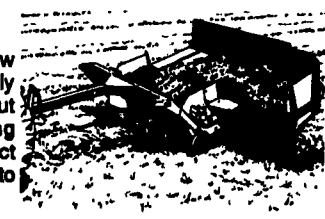
The Model 900 forage harvester puts you in control of your harvest:
- Rugged 21-inch, 12-knife cutterhead for a uniform chop.
- Exclusive flip-up feedrolls provide convenient access to the shearbar and smooth roll scraper.
- Electromagnetic clutches provide instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives.
- Optional Metalert® II metal detector protects cutterhead and your valuable animals

Stop in and let us show you how the Model 900 puts you in control.

HIGH PERFORMANCE LOW HASSLES

The high performance of the Model 790 forage harvester starts with the massive 12-knife cutterhead. It delivers a fine, uniform chop for high quality feed. The "790" is built tough to keep chopping season after season. And routine maintenance is easy to keep hassles to a minimum. Stop in and see for yourself.

RAIN OR SHINE



The New Holland Model 166 windrow inverter speeds drying time as it gently lifts, fluffs and turns windrows without roughing-up the hay. And keeping more of the protein-rich leaves intact means you'll get high-quality hay into the bale or silo fast!

The Model 166 features:
- 65-inch Super-Sweep™ pickup
- Adjustable pickup wind-guard and discharge chute
- East-to-lift overcenter handle
- Optional hydraulic drive
- Optional hydraulic pickup lift

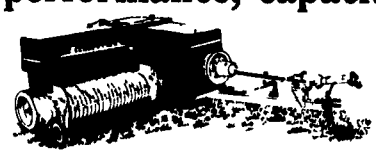
Best-in-class performance, capacity



The "570" New Holland square baler from Ford New Holland brings together performance and reliability, along with improved capacity.

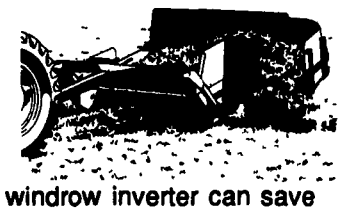
LEFTOVER - SPECIAL PRICE!
$2,975 FOB New Holland



The New Holland Model 144 windrow inverter can save your hay crop by turning it over to dry, without losing valuable leaves. Get your hay out of the field sooner, before it rains. Or, if it's been rained on, dry it quickly and gently. Make your hay more valuable with the "144".

The CLAAS corn header is in a class of its own, and sets the standard for the industry.

The six row header features folding outer dividers so you stay within 10 foot width. This makes road travel safer standard.

The dividers have a very low profile to ensure that hanging or battered corn can be picked up cleanly and transported smoothly to the compression rollers. The deflectors stop the header from pushing the corn forward and allows cutting of the crop close to the ground.

THE HARVESTING SPECIALIST

Now is the time to schedule your corn harvest with one of our CLAAS custom harvesters equipped with rollermill.

For a baler to produce silage balers, the design must be based on the know-how of a specialist. The CLAAS QUADRANT 1200 shows how silage bales have to look; highly compressed, accurately shaped and securely tied. Baled from wilted crops and then matured in the silage clamp to provide nutritious forage.

More and more farmers recognize the advantages offered by big bale silage; economic efficiency and profitability are ensured and the nutritive value of the farm-produce forage is utilized to the full.

Perkins Lugging Power Gets You Through The Tough Jobs.

When you think of Perkins engines, you first think of descriptions like rugged, dependable, economical and long-lasting. This reputation is well deserved and based on a design principle that has proven to be effective in a wide variety of applications.

OSWALT® Mixers by J-STAR

TMR Ruffage Master

These new Oswalt® four auger Model 200/250 mixers are designed to process and mix all feeds, including baled hay, into a fully-blended TMR...better than anyone!

The aggressive, notched, 20"-diameter, full-pitch, four auger mixing pattern, dual shear shelf design and exclusive, self-lubricating Tuff-Glide liners help feed materials flow more freely, reducing horsepower requirements and virtually eliminating material hang-ups and dead spots.

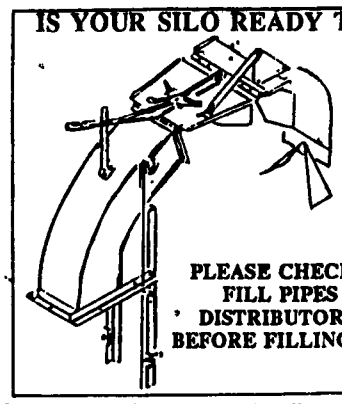
S & S SILO SERVICE

ATTENTION FARMERS
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

STRONGER AND WILL OUT LAST PLASTER

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

"IT IS TIME TO ONCE AGAIN GET SERIOUS ABOUT STORING YOUR VALUABLE FEEDS!!!"

The recent "innovations" and temporary methods of storing your grains and forages are just not protecting your feeds like they should, nor are they really efficient.

Research and practical experience has shown that "the tower silo has never been equalled in its ability to protect your forage quality." And remember... "on most dairy farms, forage quality is the single most important factor affecting profit."

Contact us soon to be sure you get on our schedule to have your poured concrete tower silo constructed in time for your corn silage harvest...

RUFF-TUFF POLY SILO LINERS for Upright Silos

Now With New Expansion Ring For Easy Installation

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-
- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

SAM & MARIAN LONG

+830 lbs. RHA Increase

In Less Than 12 Months With Lower Production Costs Per CWT of Milk

Sam & Marian Long of Peach Bottom with Furn-Dale Aspen, who is classified as an excellent 90. She freshened 12/92 in her 3rd lactation, and already has a lifetime production of 55,098 pounds of milk.

Sam and Marian milk approximately 50 cows in a mixed herd of Holsteins, Jerseys and Milking Shorthorns. The cows are fed a TMR of corn silage, alfalfa haylage, ground earcorn, and Purina's Hi-E 31% balanced for 65 pounds. The higher producers are top-dressed Purina's Ultimate EXT 24%.

"Our herd is way out in days of milk (235) and is still averaging 60 lbs. in the tank. Before going to Purina, we were seeing cleaning and breeding problems. Now that is corrected! Early fresh cows are holding on better also."
